U. S., Soviet Union Will Pledge Ban on Nuclear Satellites

Gromyko Plans Talks With President and Secretary Rusk

BY LEWIS GULICK

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A new East-West agreement in principle to outlaw nuclear-armed space satellites will be translated soon into a public U.S.-Soviet pledge, U.S. diplomatic sources predicted today.

"Agreement on policy... (against) nuclear weapons in orbit" was announced by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home Thursday night as they wound up a week of talks.

Gromyko has an appointment with President Kennedy next Thursday. He is expected to talk with Kennedy and Rusk in Washington about this and other possible follow-ups to the limited nuclear test ban treaty, plus items of direct concern between the United States and Russia.

The big three foreign ministers put off for later negotiation the earth-bound disarmament plans on which they have been unable to agree. These plans, including a proposed East-West nonaggression pact and observer exchange, got tangled up with the thorny Germany-Berlin issue and have yet to be sorted out.

But in a joint four-sentence communique, the three saw potential accord in space.

Noting that Kennedy and Gromyko in their U.N. General Assembly speeches last month endorsed a ban on orbiting nuclear weapons, they said, "There is agreement on policy which it is hoped can be given appropriate form in the near future."

U.S. diplomats said today they expect the United States and Russia will soon follow through with a formal public declaration against orbiting nuclear weapons.

They predicted it would not be difficult to work out an agreed wording.

The diplomats also said a formal treaty would not do because it could not be policed. They said a public promise will be suitable because, according to U.S. military opinion, an orbiting weapon would have little military purpose. Earth-based missiles are much more efficient.

Democrats of Middle West Discuss Issues

Party Leaders of 14 States Launch Madison Conference

MADISON (AP) — Democratic party leaders from 14 states gathered in Madison today for an exchange of views on state issues that will figure in next year's elections.

The occasion was the Democratic Midwest Conference, a three-day affair that will feature an address Saturday night by the President's special assistant, Ted Sorensen, and conclude Sunday with action on a number of resolutions.

2 More Conferences
The conference is the first of three regional huddles the party's Midwest leadership plans before the 1964 presidential election. National issues will be the theme of the second meeting next spring and campaign strategy will be the topic of the third.

While state issues were to occupy conference delegates, some early arrivals were caught up in speculation on whom the Republican

Storm Ravages Alaskan Region

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — A storm packing winds of better than 80 miles an hour wrecked homes and fuel supplies at Barrow, the most northern settlement in North America, Thursday. One man was reported injured and was released after treatment.

State Sen. Eben Hopson told Gov. William A. Egan the loss would exceed $250,000. Others indicated it would run much higher.

At least 20 homes were destroyed and a number of military and civilian aircraft were wrecked.

Many persons were evacuated to higher ground.

The Red Cross planned to fly relief supplies and personnel into Barrow today.

No Early Threat to U. S. Mainland; Heavy Losses Feared in Negro Republic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane threat to the U.S. mainland, about 300 miles away, for at least two days, if at all.

The big U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, a thorn in the side of Fidel Castro's Communist island, was expected to come through the storm in good shape.

For nine hours Thursday night and today, Flora pounded Haiti with 140-mile-an-hour fury. The Negro nation was left isolated from the world, with all communications out.

At 11 a.m. (EST), the hurricane was just off mountainous Oriente Province. Her top winds, which had dropped to 115 miles an hour over Haiti, had steamed back up to 125.

Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami weather bureau, said it appeared that the hurricane might spend all day over Cuba. If it does, it would be greatly weakened when it finally re-enters the Atlantic.

Could Renew Force
However, regeneration of the storm still would be likely over open water and the Central Bahama Islands would come into range.

An 11 a.m. (EST) advisory from the weather bureau placed the storm center at latitude 19.4 north, longitude 74.9 west, or about 40 miles south-southeast of Guantanamo Bay and 575 miles southeast of Miami. It was moving slowly northwest at 7 miles an hour.

A sad story was expected to come from Haiti when communications are re-established. Forecasters were worried also about what is yet to come.

Forecasters said there is no

T. E. Orbison, 75, Dies After 4-Week Illness

Owned Engineering Firm, Served YMCA As President 10 Years

Thomas E. Orbison, Sr., 75, 319 S. Meade St., of Orbison and Orbison, Inc., a firm of consulting engineers, died at 2:10 a.m. Friday after a four-week illness.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday in the First Congregational Church with the Rev. Edward C. Dahl officiating. Arrangements are under direction of Wichmann Funeral Home.

Cornell Graduate

Orbison was born May 24, 1888, in Appleton, a son of Thomas W. and Irene Ballard Orbison. He attended Appleton schools, graduating from Lawrence Academy. He attended Lawrence College, transferring to Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y., where he graduated in 1910.

After working for General Electric Company in New York State for about a year, he returned to Appleton and formed a partnership with his father in Orbison and Orbison, consulting engineers. He also became associated with Appleton Woolen Mills and was a director of that company for 25 years.

He was a member of the First Congregational Church where he served as a trustee and deacon for many years.

Orbison was president of the Ap-

Gradual Viet Nam Pull-Back

Slow Withdrawal Likely for Troops

BY FRED S. HEFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. troop withdrawal from South Viet Nam will be a slow draining-off process whose tempo is likely to rise next year.

The gradual pull-back of the nearly 15,000 American military men now there will be keyed to what U.S. officials believe will be a steady strengthening of the South Vietnamese Army's ability to stand on its own feet.

Another indispensable condition — as underscored by a White House announcement Wednesday night — is internal political stability in Communist-beleaguered South Viet Nam.

The special mission headed by Secretary of Defense Robert S.

An AP News Analysis

McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, returned satisfied that the Saigon government's repression of Buddhists has not so far eroded the morale and fighting effectiveness of the South Vietnamese Army.

McNamara and Taylor are not eliminating the possibility erosion might set in if repressions continue — and for that reason the White House underscored U.S.

concern that the political situation in Viet Nam remains "deeply serious."

U. S. Continues Pressure

It seems apparent that McNamara and Taylor believe that the war can be won with the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem in power.

But the White House statement, based on their report to President Kennedy, was clear-notice to the Diem government that this country expects it to halt its repressive measures — and that U.S. pressure toward that end will continue.

By fixing the end of 1965 as the target for winding up the main U.S. military effort in South Viet Nam, the Kennedy administration has put itself on a limb it has avoided in the past.

It is considered highly significant in this connection that, for

Negroes Air Demands on Mormons

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Negro leaders told officials of the Mormon Church Thursday night that unless they meet certain demands, Negroes might picket the 133rd church conference which opened here today.

A spokesman for the Negroes said they want the church to go on record in support of President Kennedy's civil rights program; to back civil rights legislation in Utah, and to endorse "the principle of equality of opportunity for all Americans."

The demands were presented at an hour-long meeting between officials of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and representatives of the Utah chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People.

Members of the NAACP will vote tonight on whether to picket the conference.

Negroes are regarded by the church as descendants of Cain.

Reynolds Signs Measure

Woman's Campaign Against Old Tires Brings Ban in Wisconsin

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin has a new law today because a man forgot an old adage: Never underestimate the power of a woman.

Nearly a year ago, Mrs. John Melsha, 35, a housewife from New Berlin in suburban Milwaukee, expressed interest in buying a used car. She took the car for a trial spin and then complained about the tires.

"I had someone examine the tires and learned they were old, bald tires and grooves had been put in without adding new rubber to build up the tire," she said. "I contended this made tires too weak and made them dangerous to use."

Futile Complaints
Mrs. Melsha's complaints to the used car dealer were useless. He told her nothing could be done about regrooving of tires.

"I told him we'd see about that," said Mrs. Melsha, the mother of two children.

Mrs. Melsha's fight ended Thursday when Gov. John W. Reynolds signed into law a bill prohibiting the regrooving of worn tires in Wisconsin. The governor noted it was a personal triumph for her.

Testifies at Hearing

Mrs. Melsha took her battle first to the New Berlin Women's Club. Then she enlisted the aid of other women's clubs and safety organizations throughout the state. She even returned to school to brush up on her typing, realizing many letters would have to be written.

Mrs. Melsha, whose husband works for an electrical contractor, convinced her assemblyman, Vincent Matthews of Waukesha, to introduce a bill. Then she made two trips to the state Capitol in Madison to testify before legislative committees. She had support from women's groups, safety groups and the Wisconsin unit of the American Automobile Association.

At one hearing, a taxi firm opposed the bill. At another, a Milwaukee area tire firm attempted to reach a compromise.

"They wanted to amend the bill so that regrooved tires could be used if labeled," Mrs. Melsha said, "Then I really fumed."

Notified of the governor's action in signing the anti-regrooving bill, Mrs. Melsha said: "What a thrill. What a night I'm going to have." Then she headed for her women's club to report.

Double Ring Ceremony Performed

KAUKAUNA — The Rev. Edward Kilsdonk officiated at the 11 a.m. double ring ceremony Tuesday uniting Miss Elizabeth Haen and David Kobussen at St. Francis Catholic Church, Hollandtown.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Haen, route 3, Kaukauna. Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Kobussen, route 3, Kaukauna, are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride chose Miss Anna Marie Haen as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Helen Fink and Miss Joan Kobussen.

James Kobussen served as best man with John Kobussen and Raymond Haen as groomsmen.

A Name Tag was pinned on Miss Florence Otto, above, president of the National Milwaukee-Downer Alumnae Association, by Mrs. S. P. Gahert. Mrs. Edward Spoerl, second vice president of the alumnae group, looked on. Mrs. Clifford Boettcher, Mrs. William Savitt, Oshkosh, and Mrs. Gordon Valentine, Green Bay, signed the book and picked up name tags at the banquet Wednesday evening. They had charge of arrangements. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Mrs. Kobussen

Ushering duties were fulfilled by Lawrence Juneau and David Haen.

A wedding dinner, reception and dance were given at Van Abel's.

Mrs. Kobussen attended St. Francis and St. Joseph Academy and was graduated from St. Norbert College, De Pere. She is a teacher at St. Francis School, De Pere. Her husband was graduated from Kaukauna High School.

The couple will live at route 3, Kaukauna, where Mr. Kobussen is engaged in farming. A wedding trip to Northern Wisconsin is planned.

The Ailing House End Growth Of Blister

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q My night table has a veneer top. A blister is developing in the veneer. How can I repair this to prevent it from growing larger?

A: Cut across the center of the blister with a razor blade or exceedingly sharp knife. Then, using a spatula or long, thin screwdriver, work waterproof glue or cement through this slot onto the underside of the veneer. When the underside is covered as well as possible, press the veneer back into position and keep it weighted down until the adhesive dries thoroughly. Be careful to wipe up immediately any adhesive that oozes out through the slit.

Q The former owners of the house we just purchased covered the kitchen walls with inlaid. Is there any way we can remove this without damage to the wall underneath?

A: Yes! Pry a corner of the inlaid loose with a blunt-edged tool (screwdriver, putty knife). Then moisten the paste on the back of the wall covering with water. If a waterproof adhesive was used, moisten it with naphtha, being careful to have windows open and the kitchen well ventated and all pilot lights off; be very careful of the fire hazard. As the paste softens, pry the inlaid loose from the wall.

Q: The former owner of our home applied wall inlaid to the lower part of the bathroom, including the shower. After some use, though, the tile in the shower stall started getting black spots toward the bottom. In time we had to replace this; we got a similar material, but this, too, is getting black spots on it — looks like mold from the inside. What would have caused this to happen? When we applied this new inlaid, we applied new paste, as instructions said. What do we need to treat the wall in order to kill this mold so that we'll be able to put on new covering and know it won't happen again?

A: There may not be an absolutely tight waterproof seal at the bottom of the stall wall covering, permitting water to seep through and behind to promote the development and growth of mold. This joint should be tightly caulked after applying the inlaid. Use a waterproof adhesive for the wall covering. After removing the present covering, inspect the plaster wall and replace any deteriorated plaster sections. Then apply a solution of one pint of chlorine bleach in one gallon of water, allowing to remain four to five minutes, to kill any mold spores, and rinse off with clear water. Add a disinfectant to the adhesive to retard mildew growth.

Keep the bathroom — and especially the stall shower — as well ventilated and aired as possible. Installing an exhaust fan, vented to the outdoors will help.

Some believe that the Indians had told the pilgrims that it would come and it did and hence it won the name.

Perhaps a better background for the name comes from its very appearance, the haziness of the days and the murky gold colors which are a part of the phenomena. Early American settlers believed that the autumn fires of the Indians burning off the prairie grasses caused the atmospheric colors and the abnormal warmth of the season.

But the period has been a cause of interest far, far back in history. In Greek mythology there was a specified season regarded as a gift of the gods to the kingfisher, a big bird then called a "halcyon" which was believed to build a floating nest at sea and to raise its brood during that special, warm season. It was called "halcyon days."

Considering its inconstancy, its variable qualities, its indeterminate character, what is Indian summer and how can one specify it exactly

Trying to Explain, Forecast Time Of Indian Summer Coming Is Hard

BY CHARLIE HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The lovely, fresh, sunny days and the salubrious climate we have been enjoying the past week — is that Indian summer?

House

In Poland it is called God's gift to Poland. In England it is called by several names — all hallow's summer and St. Martin's summer. Elsewhere it is called the fifth season, fall summer, summer's close, the after head and the summer of old women.

Although that beautiful time of the year is generally called "Indian summer" in most parts of the United States, there is some doubt as to the reason for that title.

Told Pilgrims

Some believe that the Indians had told the pilgrims that it would come and it did and hence it won the name.

Lasts 7 to 10 Days

First, it is a period which lasts about seven to ten days in this region. Second, it is marked by especially fair weather and pleasantly mild days. Third, it is characterized by the haziness of the atmosphere which is most noticeable in the distance, in valleys and along the horizons. Fourth, it is always attendant upon the turning coloration of the leaves and a soft, golden color which seems to be in the atmosphere. Fifth, it arrives in these areas in late October or early November. Sixth, it is the last of the lovely days before the on-rush of winter, cold winds and dropping leaves.

It is characterized by warm days and cool nights, and by the soft, yellow or orange hues of the moon. The sky is rich cobalt blue and the air seems smoky and still. This is Indian summer.

The technical explanation is simply that it is caused by a large mass of tropical air moving northward over the country. The air mass which remains still

Coming Sunday Flight to Costa Rica

On Wednesday, Oct. 9, a triumphant sequel to a hitherto frustrating story will take place in the flight of a Post-Crescent reporter and two live little pigs from Billy Mitchell field, Milwaukee, en route to Costa Rica.

When John Sawall, Post-Crescent Bureau chief at New London, steps aboard an Eastern Airlines plane bound for Palmares, Costa Rica, accompanied by two porkers from Waupaca, he will be writing the final chapter on an episode that has as many sub-plots as an international thriller.

Starting with the ambitions of a Costa Rica farm lad, the story has included the activities, energy and plans of the Waupaca County Agricultural Agent, the Post-Crescent Regional Editor, U. S. Rep. John Byrnes, a breed-er of champion Duroc hogs and officials of the Civil Aeronautics Board and the State Department to name a few. Farm and news directors of Green Bay television stations also will be present.

The whole story is one of frustrations and human kindness twined with voluminous red tape and is bound to intrigue readers who may follow its human interest course in the Oct. 6 edition of the Sunday Post-Crescent.

Sheriff Cites Need for New Kitchen Stove

Facility in County Jail Could Blow Up, Spice Says

The Outagamie County Sheriff's Department is worried about the jail stove.

Sheriff Calvin Spice told members of the county's court and administration committee, that the stove being used in the county jail "may blow somebody's head off." He said a jailer last week became concerned when he detected odors of gas leakage in the stove.

"I've been stalling off kitchen repair requests," Spice said, "due to the talk of county jail rebuilding." He said he has been informed that the building program now does not include replacement of jail facilities.

Stove Obsolete
"My stove is obsolete now," Spice said, "and will have to be replaced soon." He was told to make a formal request for the alteration. The stove was placed in the kitchen when the courthouse was built in 1941.

Although the jail population has fallen off considerably in one year, Spice told the committee he was still concerned about facilities for maximum security prisoners.

"I have room now, but no security," Spice said. He said the proposed additions to the courthouse discussed for several years, were to include dormitory facilities for the prisoners working under the Huber law. They would be separate from maximum security cells. If repairs are made within the county jail, state statutes require that the entire jail be brought up to state approved specifications. This would require that the cell blocks be changed from six and eight man capacity to two-man cells.

Librarian at OSC Named to State Post

OSHKOSH — Helen I. Wahoski, librarian at Wisconsin State College - Oshkosh, was named president of the Wisconsin Library Association today during the annual meetings of the group at the Tri-State convention in Minneapolis.

Miss Wahoski, head librarian at the Oshkosh college, moves into the presidency of the Wisconsin Library Association from a vice-presidential post she held during the past year.

Librarians from Wisconsin, Iowa, and Minnesota are attending.

Named "Librarian of the Year" in 1958 by the W.L.A., Miss Wahoski has been with Wisconsin State-Oshkosh since 1946 and has served as head librarian since 1950.

She is a graduate of Ripon College, holds a bachelor of science in library from the University of Wisconsin and a master of library science from the University of Michigan. She is a member of numerous civic and professional groups in Oshkosh, Wisconsin and national educational circles.

Traffic Count Slated At Memorial, Prospect

The state will conduct a traffic count at the Memorial Drive-Prospect Avenue intersection later this month or next.

In a letter to city officials, L. W. Empey, district engineer for the Wisconsin Highway Commission, said the state's present workload made it impossible to schedule the traffic survey at this time.

The intersection is one of Appleton's busiest. The city plans to renovate it in 1964 to make the streets wider in that area.

Fox Valley Regional Program Detailed at Teacher Session

First of Two Workshops Held; Expressway Proposal Explained

Efforts of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission were outlined Thursday night for Fox Valley school teachers in the first of two workshops to be held at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

Sponsors of the workshops are the commission and the UW Urban program. Speakers were Veldor A. Kopitzke, coordinator of the urban program; Donald C. Brown, vice chairman of the planning commission; Eugene Francis, planning commission director; Walter C. Rasmussen, Appleton city planner, and Clarence Brownson, Outagamie County highway commissioner.

Second Workshop
A second workshop will be held at 7 p. m. Thursday at the extension center with a panel of

No Pay Checks for Appleton Postmen

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton Post Office employees were ready to write a "Dear John" letter today.

Their checks, about $30,000 worth, got lost in the mail. "Dear John" would be none other than Wisconsin's own John Gronouski, who was sworn in last week as postmaster general.

Appleton's 150 postal workers get paid every two weeks and today was supposed to be THE day.

Embarrassed postal authorities at the regional office at Minneapolis said the checks had been mailed out in two boxes as usual Thursday.

First in History
Postmaster Francis Sumnicht said he called Minneapolis after only one box with 20 checks arrived. The main one with the other 130 payroll checks, totaling about $30,000, did not show.

"This is the first time in history something like this has happened here," Sumnicht commented. He was at a loss for an explanation, adding, "I guess it's just one of those things." Sumnicht broke the news to employees shortly before noon that they would not be paid today.

Postal workers thought there was something in the wind when just one small box arrived. It contained checks for a group of employees in a separate payroll category.

Authorities Shook
Needless to say, postal authorities at Minneapolis were somewhat shook when informed by the Appleton office that this time all the mail did not get through.

The $30,000 question was where the checks might be.

Two theories were advanced here and at Minneapolis:

1. The checks got misplaced or lost between Minneapolis and Appleton.

2. A mistake may have been made and another post office in some other city received the bulk of the Appleton payroll.

Postal officials were keeping their fingers crossed that it was the latter.

mentation of the expressway system, a vital report in the Schellie plan for traffic and transportation control in the region.

Fast Growing Area

Franchett told the audience the Fox Cities area was one of the fastest growing areas in the state.

One of the biggest problems, he explained, is the anticipation of future needs... principal motivation of the comprehensive plan and objective of the planning commission.

Such a plan, Franchett continued, must be flexible enough to fit into actual area changes which take place during the formative period. Zoning is a necessary ingredient in the plan, he said, in order to have some control over future land use.

Regional Planning
A single Fox Cities municipality is possible, but not probably, the commission director said. This is not the goal of the commission, he added. Rather, it is the coordination of regional planning for development of certain area services including parks, transportation, recreation, regional utilities and land use.

Rasmussen pointed out that costs of projects may be controlled to a certain extent by planning. Rights of way and land uses must be reserved while properties are still agricultural in nature.

Brownson explained some of the difficulties in extended planning caused by present developments. Plans have to be shifted to accommodate federal, state, county and municipal improvements and additions.

Members for the planning commission are from Appleton, Kaukauna, Menasha, Neenah, Combined Locks, Kimberly, Little Chute, and the towns of Grand Chute, Harrison, Vandenberg and Buchanan.

Bolton Estate Distributed by County Court

Mrs. Mary Maude Bolton, 818 E. College Ave., widow of Dr. Ernest Bolton who died Oct. 17, 1961 at the age of 84, received $102,952 of her husband's estate which totaled $206,930. The estate was distributed in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

Dr. Bolton had personal property valued at $142,756, life insurance of $40,998, insurance to the estate of $10,371 and property of $39,208. Debts totaled $1,250, burial was $1,451 and cost of administration was $9,934.

Other beneficiaries are Glenroy Bolton, St. Paul, Minn., $26,428; Wayne Bolton, Appleton, $25,488; All Saints Church, Appleton, $1,000; James E. McCourt, Lake Oswego, Oregon, $1,000; Edwina Nafus, Nashua, Iowa, $1,013; Grace Bolton, Long Beach, Calif., $1,013; Florence Becker, 327 E. Marquette St., $100; Mrs. Glenroy Bolton, $14,383, and two grandchildren, $16,723 each.

Vocational Teacher At Workshop for State Coordinators

Elmer Miller of the Appleton School of Vocational, Technical, and Adult Education was among the educators attending the annual state meeting of coordinators of distributive education held in Oshkosh Wednesday through today.

The meeting is held annually by the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education to present the newest methods, techniques, and developments in the teaching of marketing and selling to department heads in the state's vocational-technical schools. Subjects covered this year include development of skilled teaching staffs; curriculum development; public relations; use of advisory committees from business to insure that local programs are properly related to the community, and similar topics.

Pay Raises Sought for Appleton, County Workers

Spice Files Request For Boosts

Salary increases totaling approximately $10,250 a year have been requested for all personnel in the Outagamie County Sheriff's Department with the exception of the sheriff.

Sheriff Calvin Spice has asked the county's civil service and salary committee to recommend increases of $50 per month for 15 members of his department, and an increase of $75 per month for two other members.

Included would be raises for four investigators, the undersheriff, two clerks, a matron and nine radio operators and jailers.

Low Wages
Spice said in a letter that low wages in the department have obstructed the building of a first rate sheriff's department.

Spice told the county's courts and administration committee that he sent the letter to the civil service committee this week but has received no reply. A meeting soon between the civil service and the courts and administration committee may discuss the proposed wage increases. The meeting date has been suggested as sometime this week in order to get salary increases included in the coming 1964 budget requests.

Request "High"
Spice said the wage request is unusually high, but that it is a general realignment of wage scales rather than a salary increase request. He said higher salaries are needed to attract qualified personnel to replace departing employees.

Also recommended was the creation of two sergeant positions for the jailer and radio operator departments. These positions

Neenah Youth Hurt Slightly as Bicycle Collides With Auto

NEENAH — A Neenah boy was apparently slightly injured Thursday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding collided with a slowly moving car at a filling station on First Street, Neenah.

Mark Robert Mason, 13, 246 Third St., Neenah, received emergency treatment at Theda Clark Hospital for cuts on the left cheek and right hand and a sore knee and was released.

According to police reports the bicycle Mason was riding ran into a car driven by Arthur P. Janikowski, 45, 308 Winnebago Ave., Menasha, as the latter was pulling into a service station at First and Hewitt Streets.

The racial concerns meeting is being sponsored by the Wisconsin Area Methodist Committee on Race. The Rev. David Owen of Sheboygan Falls will preside. The meeting will be held in the church chapel, and is open to the public.

Woman Fined $50 For Drunkenness

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Beverly J. Kappel, 26, of 1409 N. Bennett St., Appleton, was fined $50 and costs or 30 days in jail in County Court Branch 2 today after pleading guilty to a charge of drunkenness.

She was arrested late Thursday night after passing out in her car at a local gas station.

Members of the steering committee for the building program are Philip G. Hammond, Charles R. Stigall, Neenah, publicity and finance; Kenneth Knasel, decoration as the second unit, which would double the capacity if dual services were held; a larger sanctuary as the third unit and possibly another educational unit when needed.

The groundbreaking service Saturday will follow the adjournment of the eighth annual session of the Wisconsin-Minnesota Baptist Association which will meet Friday and Saturday at the Highland Crest Baptist Church in Green Bay. Participants in the annual meeting also will take part in the groundbreaking service.

Development of Tourist Attraction and Recreational Area Considered by City

KAUKAUNA — Representatives develop the 33-acre site for reconstruction of the common council have been rational purposes and to develop a tourist attraction.

Since the area is heavily overgrown with weeds and brush, it would take considerable money to properly develop the area. Aldermen indicated the meeting will be the dropping of restrictions on some property acquired by the city from the county about 10 years ago. The property, on Green Bay Road, was sold to the city with the stipulation it be used for park, school or recreation purposes.

The area has never been developed due to its limited size and now a business in the area seeks a portion of the property for expansion purposes. Due to deed restrictions, the city is unable to sell the property although the majority of aldermen have indicated they would be willing to relinquish some of the land to assist the business owner.

Second Item

Famed Singer To Discuss Race Trouble

Marion Downs, nationally known lyric soprano, interpreter of Negro spirituals and ballad, will be featured at a meeting on racial concerns at the First Methodist Church, Appleton, at 7:30 p.m. Monday.

She received a Fulbright grant, and has presented concerts in Scandinavia and other European countries, Mexico and across the United States.

Mrs. Downs also will participate in a discussion of current racial concerns. Assemblyman Harold Froehlich will speak on "Civil Rights Legislation in Wisconsin" at the meeting. The Rev. Marvin A. Schilling, pastor, will speak on "Methodist's Central Jurisdiction."

The racial concerns meeting is being sponsored by the Wisconsin Area Methodist Committee on Race. The Rev. David Owen of Sheboygan Falls will preside. The meeting will be held in the church chapel, and is open to the public.

Union Asks More Pay, Benefits

Teamsters Local 563, representing an estimated 100 Appleton city employees, submitted requests today for a 15 cent per hour wage hike, increased fringe benefits and changes in working conditions.

The union's proposal will be considered at a meeting of the common council's personnel committee Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Last week Robert Schlieve, business representative for the Teamsters, notified city officials his union was prepared to enter into collective bargaining with the city.

Study Proposal

The union represents some employees in the street sanitation division, at the sewage treatment plant and in the park department.

The personnel committee indicated it would consider the union's proposal as in the past and negotiate under terms of the state labor law.

A resume of the union demands:

• Wages — Increase all hourly wage rates at least 15 cents per hour across-the-board.

• Compensation — When an employee is called in for emergency work he would receive two hours at his regular rate of pay in addition to the pay for actual hours worked.

• Paid holidays — When the day preceding Christmas is a regular work day the afternoon (after noon) of that day is to be considered as a paid holiday. Employees who do not work be paid for their regular afternoon scheduled hour at the straight time pay rate; those required to work receive double time in addition to the holiday pay for such afternoon.

• Grievances and discharge — Make provisions that any grievance or discharge which cannot be resolved between the union and city be submitted to an arbitrator.

Platform for Serving Dog Can be Made From Carton

BY CAPPY DICK

A platform on which to serve your dog's food and water is easy to make from a shallow corrugated carton.

Find a carton of about the dimensions shown in Figure 1. Remove the flaps. Turn it upside down so the bottom becomes the top.

Cut the sides and ends as in Figure 2. Also cut an opening at each end to provide finger grips that will make it easy to pick up the platform and carry it. Cut a circular opening in the top, just large enough to receive a water bowl ("A" of Figure 2) without letting it fall through.

The other utensil used by your dog is the dish that holds its food ("B" of Figure 2). This should not fit down into the hole, but should rest over the hole and on top of the platform.

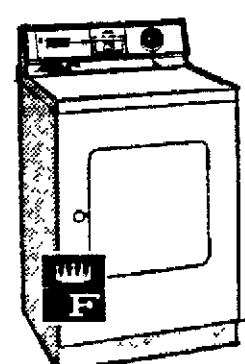

To keep the dish from sliding, attach four "stops" around the hole. These are small blocks of wood glued to the platform, spaced ed so the food dish will fit snugly among them.

Before attaching the blocks, cover the top of the platform with plastic or oil cloth, glued in place. This will make the platform easy to clean.

If you wish, you may use a longer carton (but still shallow) and have space to make the hole for the water dish and next to it space for the food bowl.

MEN PREFER PEP TO GLAMOUR! TRUE □ FALSE □

True, many men do the glamorous wife often frightens off a man with her aloofness. Her very glamor has a forbidding quality about it that many a man does not know what to do about. Pep, on the other hand, is something that he can respond to and enjoy. He joins in the fun with her pep to lead him, or he enjoys her enthusiasms vicariously. Much of what young people call personality is actually a certain pep and fascination with life itself.

Should we always encourage people to be "original"? Yes — No —

No, say some psychiatrists. The research scientist may so strongly desire to be "creative" that he fails to master the knowledge and techniques of his discipline. He may so want to make a name for himself that he disparages the work of greater men. Artists who have failed may try to pretend success by starting a new school.

Visit Manitowoc Saturday to Meet Lancers

BY HENRY SIMON

Fox Valley Lutheran High School will try to break above the .500 mark Saturday as the Foxes battle Manitowoc Lutheran High School in FVL's third invasion of the grid season.

Several streaks will be on the line during the game, scheduled for 2 p. m. at the Manitowoc Chiefs' stadium. The Foxes have suffered both their 1963 defeats on enemy soil, but Fox Lutheran has also won its pair of victories on Saturday afternoons.

On the other hand, both teams that conquered FVL are undefeated, while the Lancers have not yet won a decision this season.

Drop 3 Games

Saturday's hosts have dropped games to Lakeside Lutheran of Port Atkinson, Winnebago Lutheran of Fond du Lac and Elkhardt Lake-Glenbeulah.

Since the Lancers are only in their second year of football, not much is known about their personnel.

The Manty team defeated the FVL Junior Foxes 20-7 last year. The Lancers used an aerial attack coupled with a weak Fox Lutheran "B" team pass defense to take the victory.

The FVL score came on a Lee Kiepke to Steve Meitner pass. Kiepke threw to Dale Lueck for the extra point. All three are now members of the FVL varsity.

Manitowoc Lutheran went on to record a 4-3 season record against other area junior varsities and small school varsities after that game.

FVL will be at full strength for the contest. Head Coach Dave Umrus plans to start the regular offensive line, with Bill Neubauer at center, Chuck Krahn and Jim Huebner at guards, Don Arps and Larry Kahler at tackles, and Barry Wierschke and Mark Dahlke at ends.

Manning the backfield posts will be Bob Krueger at quarterback, Wayne Koenig and Gary Buss at the halfback slots, and Jack Wolsiegal at fullback.

The FVL defense will consist of Wierschke, Arps, Huebner, Kah-

It would do well for the Appleton High School Terrors to show up at Goodland Field Saturday afternoon equipped with some type of counterpart for oxygen masks.

The hypothetical masks should be designed to filter footballs from the air as the Terrors' opponents will be the aerial-minded Sheboygan North Golden Raiders. The kickoff, for the unbeaten Terrors' first home game, is slated for 1.30 p.m.

North, led by the accurate pitching of quarterback Dennis Ruppel and the sticky-fingered pass catching of Dick Reiss, threatens to balloon Appleton's strong pass defense figure of only 37 yards allowed.

Lawrence College hopes a contingent of sophomores will supply the power to get its 1963 football machine off the ground Saturday at Galesburg, Ill.

A rash of injuries has forced Coach Bernie Heselton to rely heavily on sophs in Saturday's meeting with Knox — the Vikes' third game of the season.

From a pre-season vantage point, it appeared that the Knox game would be one of the lesser challenges on the schedule for Lawrence, which was then rated a title threat. But the Vikes, who have failed to approach last season's title-contending form in two losing efforts, now face a battle to keep out of the cellar against equally winless Knox.

Key Injury Losses

In a 23-8 home-field loss to St. Olaf, the Vikes lost starting corner-back Bill Prange — and the Menasha junior is still out of action.

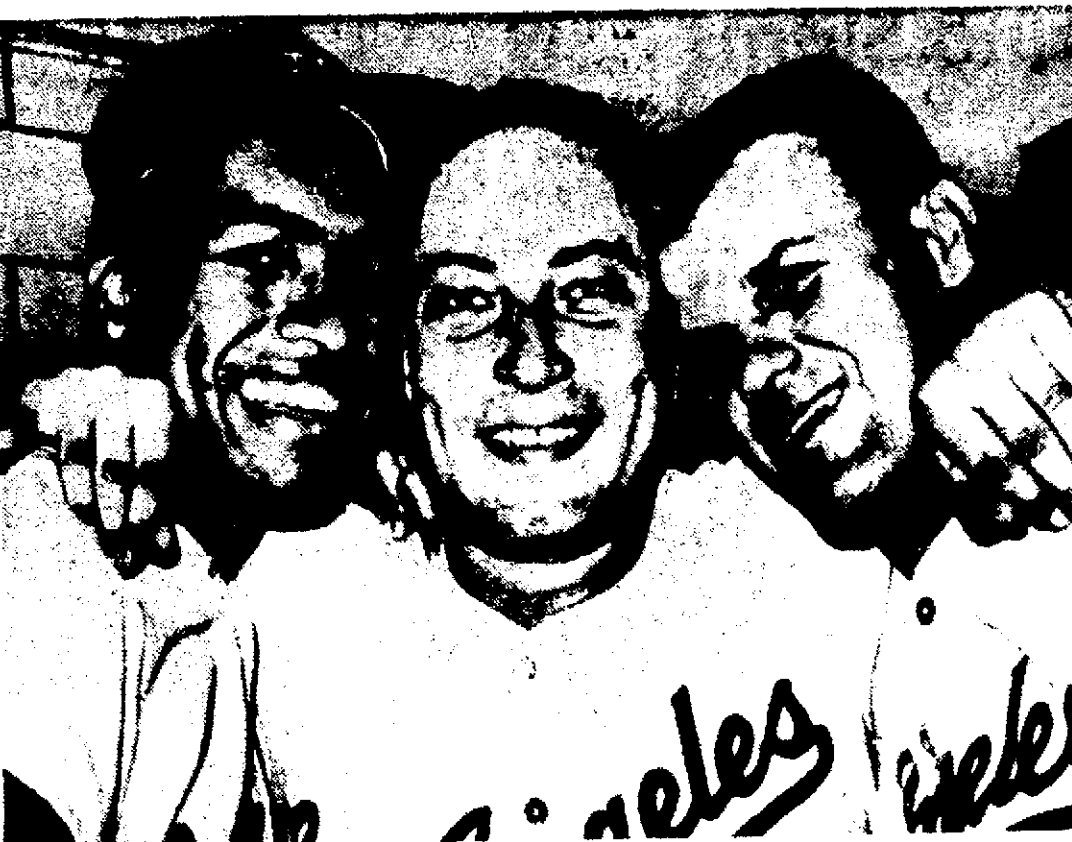

In the first quarter of the stunning 37-0 loss at Cornell, the Vikings lost co-captain Paul Cromhecke via injury. Then, in the third period, they lost all-conference Walt Chapman and sophomore Jack Robertson, a regular defensive lineman. None of this group will even make the trip Saturday.

Starting halfbacks Tim Knabe and Dave Brainard were also injured — though less severely — at Cornell and will travel to Knox. However, Oshkosh's sophomore Henry Rutz is due to start on offense for Knabe, while Beaver Dam soph Bob Schoenwetter will start at left half.

Ned Carleton, a 210-pound soph, will start for Chapman, a 2-way regular. Oshkosh soph Mike Anger (190 pounder) will start for Cromhecke, another both-ways player. Soph John Vedder gets the call for Robertson.

Noise, Shouts Of 2,000 Fans Greet Dodgers

Yankees Arrive First But Quickly Head For Their Hotel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A sonic boom of drums, bugles, noise-makers and shouts from 2,000 throats greeted the Los Angeles Dodgers as they flew home Thursday night after winning their second straight World Series game from the Yankees.

"What happened to the Yankee power?" read a sign carried by one group in the deliriously happy throng that jammed into International Airport's terminal waiting area.

The shouting and noise-making started as soon as the Dodgers' private transport made its descent onto one of the myriad of runways.

About a half hour before the Dodger plane touched ground another transport wheeled into view with another baseball team aboard.

Although the players were dressed in mufti, the baseball fans had no trouble identifying them as Yankees. The glum expressions were a give-away on the team that had lost the first two series games on its home field.

The Yankees headed quickly for a waiting bus that took them to their hotel headquarters. A few signed autographs for the Dodger fans who were waiting for their heroes, but most of the Yanks ignored the spectators and brushed by them and reporters and photographers.

Podres Second to Study Rhythmic Arts At Becker's 'College'

Southpaw Tired After Batting In the Ninth

BY MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Podres seems too old and bald to be a student. But he's been attending Joe Becker's College of Rhythmic Arts, a dimly lit seatless classroom where you have to flunk a course to meet the entrance requirements.

But Podres is the second student to graduate with honors during the World Series.

Becker took Sandy Koufax to his classroom Wednesday and he went on to strike out a record 15 in a 5-2 Los Angeles Dodger victory. Becker took Podres there Thursday and the 31-year-old left-hander came out with a 4-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Becker, the Dodgers' pitching coach, beckoned Podres when he came into the dugout after pitching the first two innings at Yankee Stadium. Podres had not allowed any runs, but had been anything but sharp. They made their way behind the Dodger dugout to the runway leading to the dressing room.

"Johnny didn't have any rhythm or coordination," said Becker. "He wasn't bringing his foot down right, and he wasn't getting enough hip in his pitches. As a result, his pitches were rising. I showed him what he was doing wrong."

Podres righted himself so well he allowed the Yankees only four more hits until, with one out in the ninth, he tired and needed Ron Perranoski's relief help.

Podres said he was really tired after batting in the top of the ninth. When he came back to the dugout, he told Becker, "I've just about had it. Better get somebody ready."

Podres got Mantle on a long fly for the first out, then Hector Lopez lashed a ground rule double and Manager Walt Alston held a meeting at the mound.

"Alston said he'd let me stay in if I wanted to, but I told him to bring in a fresh pitcher. I was tired. I wasn't going to lie to him. I think if I told him I wanted to stay in he would have let me, but there's not much sense in being a hero."

Packers Add Mestnik to Active List

Barrett Put on Waivers; Adderley Lauded by Hecker

GREEN BAY — The Packers made a personnel change today, adding running back Frank Mestnik to the roster and placing Jan Barrett on waivers.

Coach Vince Lombardi announced the switch and quickly added that "there is no significance" in the move.

Mestnik, the one time Marquette fullback who played with the Cardinals and then spent '62 on the Giants' cab squad, gives the Packers more insurance at a position noted for its high casualty rate.

ries in which the Yankees participated bore out the Major.

The Dodgers won the first two games in 1956 but the Yankees came on to capture four of the next five. Two years later, Milwaukee also beat the Yankees in the first two games but the American Leaguers grabbed three of the next four to conquer the Braves. The Yankees had to win the last three games to win that one.

As for the four straight, Houk must have been referring to earlier Yankee teams, such as the 1927, 1932, 1938 and 1939 champions, who whipped their National League rivals four straight.

There is one major difference, however. The Yankees never have lost the first two games at home and come back to win.

Up to now, as the teams prepare for the third clash here Saturday, it has all been the Dodgers.

Heavier Hitting

The National Leaguers have flashed the stronger pitching and better speed, as advertised, and have provided the heavier hitting and more spectacular defense, as advertised.

It was Johnny Podres' turn to take the pitching laurels Thursday as the veteran left-hander stifled the Yankees with six hits until he left because of weariness after 8-13 innings. Ron Perranoski, the relief ace with the golden left arm, came in from the bullpen and shut the door on the Yankees after allowing a run-scoring single.

The Dodgers scored early, pouncing upon young Al Downing for a 2-0 lead in the first inning. Singles by Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam and the first of two doubles by Willie Davis, helped along when Roger Maris slipped and fell, produced the runs.

While Podres was mowing the Yankees down with precision, the Dodgers added to their total, scoring in the fourth on Moose Skowron's home run and again in the eighth when Tommy Davis followed Willie's two-bagger with a booming triple to the left-center field fence.

It was the second triple for Tommy and the Dodgers' fifth extra base hit of the game and seventh in two games. The power-hitting Yankees have only three extra base blows of their 13 hits. The Dodgers have collected 19 hits.

It was Podres' fourth World Series victory, the most by any Dodger pitcher. He has beaten the Yankees three times, twice in 1955 when he hurled a 2-0 triumph in the seventh and deciding game to bring the only world championship to Brooklyn.

Bowling Tips

BY DON CARTER AND MARION LADEWIG

Let 'er Go

Even the best bowlers will occasionally let the ball drop behind the foul line, as shown in top drawing. Unless they are lucky, they will have poor direction and poor pin action. There are several possible causes, but none of the most frequent is stiffness.

Bend that left knee and concentrate on getting the ball six inches past the line. To see if you are doing this, place an envelope just beyond the foul line (see bottom illustration), and see if your ball makes a black mark.

Here's Bowling in a Nutshell!

Outlined for you in detail in 2-pocket, or purse-sized pamphlet, "Control Tips for Beginners." To get your copy, send 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Marion Ladewig, c/o this news-paper.

GREEN BAY (AP) — Speedy Herb Adderley was Green Bay's No. 1 draft choice in 1961, but as an offensive back he was a disappointment. Now, two years later, the former Michigan State great has developed into one of the National Football League's top defensive linebackers.

Coach Vince Lombardi noted his fine outside running ability, good hands and quickness, but the Packer coach wasn't about to break up his veteran big back offense to take a chance with a rookie.

After missing six weeks of his first season with a dislocated collarbone suffered in the Shrine game, Adderley came back and was turned over to Assistant coach Norb Hecker to work on defense.

Adderley got his break in the Thanksgiving Day game against the Detroit Lions when Hank Gremminger was hurt. He responded with a key interception, and the Packers went on to beat the Lions, 17-9.

Lombardi admits that he almost mishandled Adderley by keeping him on offense for half of the 1961 season. But beginning last season Adderley was starting left halfback on defense from the opening kick-off.

Gains Confidence

"Even then I was scared to death going into every game," Adderley said Thursday. "but with the help of Gremminger, who played this corner, I gained confidence."

"Now I feel I can get the job done. I know the receivers better."

In 1962, he led the Packers with seven interceptions and was the team's top kick-off man with a 27.9 yard average. His 103 yard kick-off return against the Colts was the best performance in the league last year.

"Adderley is destined to become a great one," says Hecker. "He's a real hard hitter, he likes to crunch them."

The speedy defense man says, "If I can turn the corner, it's a foot race between the safetyman and me."

"On a return the first thing I concentrate on is catching the ball," he explained. "Then I get five yards behind the wedge."

"I go as far as I can up the middle until I see daylight. Then I make my quick break. I can't say enough about the blocking—this is the key on any return."

Publicist for Rams Confident Offense Will 'Break Out All Over'

BY ART DALEY

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — "We'll get going. I'm sure of that . . . I just hope it's this week."

Jack Teele of the Rams said that in the course of his remarks at the weekly luncheon of the Mike and Pen Club Wednesday noon.

Publicist Teele isn't about to wave a red flag in front of the champion Packers but the young man from sunland appears not the least concerned by his club's three straight losses.

He's confident that the Rams will break out all over, clobber somebody and then go on winning. The perfect springboard, of course, would be Sunday's battle in City Stadium.

Good as Anybody's

"Our defense is as good as anybody's," Jack warmed up, "and I know that sounds silly after I just told you all the games we lost, but that defense plays so much that its bound to get scored on."

The rub, of course, is the Rams' offense and Teele makes no bones about it. "The quarterbacking, the receiving and the offensive line blocking have all been off . . . but," Teele brightened, "we ran

Southern Cal to Try for Comeback Against Spartans

Clash Moved Up to Tonight; Duke, Maryland on TV Saturday

BY RUGH FULLERTON JR.

USC is given a one-touchdown Southern California's Trojans, edge.

In other games tonight, Miami's No. 1 college football team, riddled by a virus this open their comeback bid tonight week after a bounce-back victory when they face Michigan State in over Purdue, plays two-time loser Los Angeles.

The game, advanced to Friday College visits Detroit, and The night to bar conflict with the Saturday Citadel plays George Washington urday World Series game, offers in a Southern Conference game, the Trojans a good opportunity.

Top-ranked Oklahoma and Wisconsin, No. 4, have open dates highly respectable rival, two of this weekend. Alabama, No. 2 the top ten teams will be idle this after impressive victories over weekend and others can't gain Georgia and Tulane, plays Van-much by beating low-rated opponents.

Southern California fell from night game against Oklahoma first to eighth in The Associated State. They may improve their Press poll after losing 17-12 to statistics but aren't likely to gain Oklahoma last Saturday. Chances much prestige.

Other Saturday pairings for the Michigan State's young team, ranked teams: Northwestern, No. 5, at Illinois; Navy, No. 6, at in the always-tough Big Ten But Michigan; Georgia Tech, No. 7, at Louisiana State at night; Pitts-burgh, No. 9, at home against North Carolina in their opener, California and Mississippi, No. 10, at Houston.

The season's first "bowl" game, also the game of the week on national television, pairs Duke and Maryland of the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Tobacco Bowl at Richmond, Va. Duke is 2-0 and Maryland 0-2.

Northwestern, Navy and Georgia Tech seem to have drawn the most difficult assignments among the top teams.

Tommy Myers, the flashy Northwestern passer, was rushed a bit by Indiana and the improving Illinois team may rush him even more. Michigan could be troublesome to Roger Staubach and his slightly battered Navy teammates. Billy Lohridge has been playing like a one-man team for Georgia Tech, but it takes 11 men to beat LSU at Baton Rouge.

Pitt, having beaten two West Coast teams, figures to make it three against California. Ole Miss was stung by that scoreless tie with Memphis State two weeks ago and twice-beaten Houston likely will feel the consequences.

There are some prime sectional match-ups. Among them are Air Force-Southern Methodist, Army-Minnesota, Rice-Penn State, Iowa-Washington, Ohio State-Indiana, Kansas-Wyoming, Notre Dame-Purdue, Iowa State-Nebraska, Texas Christian-Arkansas, Kentucky-Auburn, Mississippi State-Tennessee, North Carolina State-Clemson, Utah-New Mexico, Dartmouth-Penn., UCLA-Stanford, Holy Cross-Syracuse and Princeton-Columbia.

Pointers Favored

In the State College Conference, Stevens Point and Eau Claire are favored to remain undefeated in home games Saturday. The Pointers will seek their fourth straight triumph against La Crosse, loser of two outings, while Eau Claire will attempt to boost its record to 3-0 against Oshkosh, owner of an 0-2-1 mark.

The University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, which has a victory and a tie in two outings, meets River Falls, holder of a 2-1 record, in Milwaukee. In other SCC actions, Superior, 1-1, travels to Platteville, 0-2, and Whitewater, 1-1, plays at Stout, 1-2.

NO PROOF KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKY DISTILLED AND BOTTLED BY THE JAMES B. BEAM DISTILLING CO., CLEMONT, BEAM, KENTUCKY

All American in any position

Since 1795, Beam has been an All American favorite . . . filling the leisure moments of Americans who enjoy good living. It's leisurely distilled to the same formula created by Jacob Beam in 1795 . . . aged gently in the time-honored way for a smoothness and lightness that is distinctly Beam's. Wherever people have a taste for good living, Beam is part of the scene. Discover the pleasure of Jim Beam as millions of people all over America have.

Obituaries

Mrs. Louise Bunker
508 Hewitt St., Neenah
Age 82, passed away Thursday evening unexpectedly. She was born April 7, 1881 in Michigan and lived in Neenah for the past 46 years. Mrs. Bunker was a member of St. Patrick Church and the Sanctuary Society of the Church. She is survived by six daughters, Mrs. Dorothy Bunker and Mrs. Paul Butterfield, both of Neenah; Mrs. A. M. Olson, Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Charles Bezer, Jr., Englewood, N.J.; Mrs. George Vargo, Denver, Colo.; Mrs. August Kirchner, Belle Glade, Florida; four sons, Dewey, Neenah, Clarence, Harold and Clifford, all of Detroit, Mich.; two sisters, Mrs. Georgianna Racicot, Neenah and Sister Mary Sacred Heart, Our Lady of Charity Convent, Green Bay, 42 grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be at 9:30 a.m. Monday at the Kessler Funeral Home, Neenah, and at 10 a.m. at St. Patrick Catholic Church, Menasha. Rev. Mer Joseph Ahern officiating. Burial will be in St. Margaret Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Sunday where the rosary will be prayed at 8 p.m.

Emil Kollath
Seymour, Wis.
Age 86 passed away suddenly at 9:20 p.m. Thursday in Appleton. He was born Nov. 20, 1876, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kollath. Mr. Kollath was a resident of Seymour for many years. On Nov. 25, 1902 he was united in marriage to Jennie Dickson who preceded him in death in 1923. Survivors are one sister, Mrs. Charles Plier, Wausau; one brother, Otto, Appleton, nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at the Muehl Funeral Home, Seymour, with the Rev. Roy Berg officiating. Burial will be in the Seymour City Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. Sunday until time of services.

Mrs. Rose H. Miller
Villa St. Vincent, New London
Age 74, passed away at 9:25 p.m. Thursday after a lingering illness. She was born February 18, 1889 in Greenville and has been a resident of Appleton most of her life. Mrs. Miller is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Malen Strong, Shiocton; Mrs. Herbert Dreger, Kaukauna; four sons, Bernard, Rt. 1, Kaukauna; Clifford, Appleton; Sgt. Eugene, Fort Benning, Ga.; S-Sgt. Arthur, Camp Lajeune, N. C.; three brothers, Emil Schmitt, Appleton; Henry and Arthur Schmitt, both of Milwaukee; two sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Gerhardt, Milwaukee; Mrs. Irene Asman, Eau Claire; 13 grandchildren and 2 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Monday at St. Therese Catholic Church. Interment will be in Highland Memorial Park. Friends may call at the Wichmann Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Sunday. Rosary will be prayed at 8 p.m. Sunday at the funeral home.

Thomas E. Orbison
519 S. Meade St.
Age 75, passed away at 2:10 a.m. Friday after a 4 week hospitalization. He was born May 24, 1882 in Appleton. He was the owner of the Orbison & Orbison Consulting Engineers; a veteran of World War I; and was extremely active in the Congregational Church and YMCA. Mr. Orbison is survived by his wife, Ann Harwood Orbison; one daughter, Mrs. A. H. (Ruth) Morgan Jr., Seattle, Wash.; two sons, F. Harwood Orbison, and Thomas E. Orbison Jr., both of Appleton; one sister, Miss Mary C. Orbison, Neenah; 17 grandchildren. A memorial service will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday at the First Congregational Church with Rev. Edward C. Dahl officiating. There will be no visitation. A memorial fund is being established for the Appleton YMCA Building Fund. The Wichmann Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Anton (Tony) Otto
321 2nd St., Menasha
Age 73, passed away Thursday evening after a 4 week illness. He was born November 13, 1889 in Menasha and has been a life-long resident. Mr. Otto is survived by his wife, Florence; four daughters, Mrs. Don (Grace) Hurley, Appleton, Mrs. Roland (Dorothy) Kamp, Mrs. Robert (Betty) Bogh, both of Menasha; Mrs. Laverne (Rosemary) Raehl, Neenah; two sons, Gerald, Appleton, Thomas, Menasha; three brothers, George and Clarence, Appleton, Joseph, Oshkosh; four sisters, Mrs. Leo Nagen, Kaukauna, Mrs. Clem Laemmrich, Menasha, Mrs. George Van Rossum, Milwaukee, Mrs. George Pierre, Oshkosh; 32 grandchildren and 1 great-grandchild. Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Menasha. Burial will be in the parish cemetery. Friends may call at the Laemmrich Funeral Home, Menasha after 3 p.m. Sunday. Rosary will be prayed at 8 p.m. Sunday at the funeral home.

Tavern, Restaurant, 4 Apartments and Living Quarters of WURL'S BAR & FOOD

159 S. Main St., Clintonville, Wis.

REAL ESTATE — Consists of a full liquor licensed tavern and party room, restaurant, private living quarters, with 4 apartments above. Large 1 1/2 cement block garage with overhead doors. Building is of brick veneer and the home of frame construction. Corner location on Main Street of Clintonville having about 50 feet of frontage by about 106 feet deep. Excellent income producing property. Must be seen to be appreciated. The bar-room has a bar, backbar, 18 bar stools, dry bottle cooler, double top novelty box, glassware and shelving. National cash register, neon lighting. The restaurant has a separate counter and 9 stools, 4 Formica top tables and 16 chairs, shelving, cash register, Garland gas stove, 3 compartment sink, 2 exhaust fans, dishware and other items. Indoor restrooms for restaurant and tavern part. The 4 apartments located above consists of two one-bedroom apartments, both have kitchens with cupboards, full bathrooms, 2 closets, and living rooms. The other two apartments share a full bathroom. One apartment has a bedroom-living room combination and kitchen. The other apartment has 2 bedrooms, closet, living room, and kitchen. The private living quarters consists of a home attached to the rear of the business building and has 3 bedrooms, 2 closets, living room, dining room, kitchen with built-in cupboards, full bathroom. Basement has an automatic, stacked steam boiler in a fireproof boiler room according to state code. Air conditioning system, walk-in beer and storage cooler, two 80-gallon electric hot water heaters. The 4 apartments are rented monthly with heat and water furnished. Property is very well located on Main Street of Clintonville with a city parking lot in the rear.

Be sure to inspect this good income producing property before date of sale and be ready to buy on auction date. Reason for selling is because owner can not continue to run the business alone.

REAL ESTATE TERMS: Owner will accept less than 30% cash down and finance the balance of the purchase price at 6% interest with monthly payments to a responsible party. If you are looking for a business, be sure to attend this sale.

Guardsmen Resist Coups in Honduras

Republic's Military Leaders Claim Victory; Deposed Head Of State Flees to Costa Rica

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—A stantly to bring the virtually au-few pockets of resistance were be-few holding out in the little trol.

banana republic of Honduras today despite victory claims by military leaders who ousted President Ramon Vil-lada Morales in a bloody revolt.

The deposed president arrived by plane in Costa Rica Thursday night, landing at the Pacific Coast city of Punta Arenas. He was accompanied by Modesto Rodas Alvarado, his candidate for president in the Oct. 13 election.

The Honduran military overthrew Villada Morales Thursday apparently to keep Rodas Alvarado out of the presidency. As president of congress for the past five years, he had worked con-

Despite the military junta's victory claim, an army communique indicated civil guardsmen in two towns in Western Honduras—Santa Barbara and Ocopeque—were still loyal to Villada Morales. A broadcast demanded their surrender.

1959 Uprising
Villada Morales organized the 2,500-man civil guard after an uprising in 1959. Army forces total 5,000.

Twenty civil guardsmen were reported killed and 50 wounded in a four-hour battle in downtown Tegucigalpa. The army reportedly suffered two dead.

The coup, coming eight days after a military coup in the Dominican Republic that ousted President Juan Bosch, caused new concern and repercussions throughout the Americas. It was the fourth such military takeover in Latin America this year and occurred despite a U.S. warning to Honduran military leaders that the United States opposes unconstitutional seizure of power.

The other coups were in Ecuador in July and Guatemala in March. Last year the military overthrew elected governments in Argentina and Peru.

Venezuela May Be Next Diplomats believe the next overturn could occur in Venezuela, where a terrorist campaign against President Romulo Betancourt might be used as the pretext by the military. Brazil is considered another trouble spot.

In Washington, there were indications the State Department was casting about for new strategy to attempt to dissuade further military coups in Latin America, where the United States has invested millions of dollars toward economic and social development under the Alliance for Progress program.

This time the Kennedy administration did not order an immediate suspension of diplomatic relations and of economic aid as it did with the Dominican Republic last week.

A State Department spokesman said relations with Honduras were in "a state of interruption."

Reports from Tegucigalpa indicated that Col. Osvaldo Lopez Avello, commander of the armed forces, had assumed leadership in the junta. Lopez, a carrier military officer, engineered a coup in 1956 that ousted dictator Julio Lozano Diaz and enabled Vil-lada Morales to return from exile and later run for president.

The army proclaimed martial law over the Central American nation of 1.8 million, mostly illiterate people, and ordered a dusk-to-dawn curfew. The airport at Tegucigalpa was closed. Censorship was imposed.

Villada Morales, who considered himself the first constitutional president of Honduras in 25 years, was inaugurated Dec. 21, 1957, for a six-year term. He was elected by a constituent assembly chosen in elections set up by an army junta.

A crowd of about 5,000 persons demonstrated outside the deposed president's hotel proclaiming their support for him.

In Washington, the council of the Organization of American States held an emergency session.

Nicaraguan President Rene Schick announced he was consulting with Presidents Adalberto Rivera of El Salvador and Francisco Orlich of Costa Rica on a joint policy toward the Honduran regime. El Salvador and Nicaragua are next-door neighbors of Honduras.

Venezuelan Quits to Remain in Hospital

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP)—
The Prieto quintuplets, 27 days old today, will be kept in the hospital for at least two more months, their doctor reports.

Dr. Regulo Pachano said Thursday night the five boys are in good health but they will remain in the hospital to assure them of adequate medical attention. All are still in incubators.

Their mother, Mrs. Ines Maria Cuervo de Prieto, 34, will be kept in the hospital for about two more weeks, the doctor said. She was reported in good condition.

Senator Attacks Asian Report By McNamara

Asserts Opinion Meant to Snuff Out Revolt Against Diem

BY ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen.
Frank Church said today that optimistic reports by top defense officials on the anti-communist war in South Viet Nam were "well designed to snuff out the spreading congressional revolt against the Diem regime."

Church, Idaho Democrat who is author of a Senate resolution urging a cutoff in all aid to the South Vietnamese, said he referred to a prediction by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor that the main U.S. military effort in South Viet Nam can be ended by late 1965.

McNamara and Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, returned Wednesday from an inspection trip to the Southeast Asian country where internal dissent has flared in the midst of American-backed attempts to rid the country of Viet Cong communist guerrillas.

Gaining Support

Church said that despite McNamara's and Taylor's report, his resolution is gaining support, and now has 33 sponsors. A Senate resolution is not binding. It is merely an expression of opinion.

Taylor and McNamara testified Thursday before a closed session of the Senate Armed Services Committee and were reported later to have said that "we are winning the war out there."

Cautious Report

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said the two gave a "cautiously optimistic report" during the session which lasted more than two hours. But he added that some senators "expressed skepticism about the situation being as bright as Secretary McNamara thought it was."

Russell said he asked about reports of clashes between officials of the Central Intelligence Agency and other U.S. agencies in the country and was told these had been greatly exaggerated.

"There were serious differences of opinion," Russell said, "but once a decision was made they said the policy applied."

"Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge is in full command there," he added.

Russell reported that Mc-Namara and Taylor said sharp divisions among groups opposing the Viet Cong "had been put aside."

Big Tree and several dozen Indian friends are in Dallas to perform at the State Fair of Texas. Asked why the mint switched to Jefferson five-cent pieces, the old chief replied, "they just got tired of looking at me." (AP Wire-photo)

At Least for Moment

Aggressive Faction at Council in Rome Appears to be Dominant

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The progressive faction in the Roman Catholic Ecumenical Council is undeniably in the ascendancy, for the moment at least.

The clash between progressive and conservative prelates, a major development during the council's first session last year, seems to have simmered down. There are cautious hopes the truce may be lasting.

The council appears to be tackling its business with a new vigor and precision. Broad differences of approach are not being empha-

An AP News Analysis

sized at this stage. Differences that have emerged since the council's reopening Sunday have been mainly minor points of detail.

Few prelates are prepared to predict that this new rapport will last.

Smooth Acceleration

But the immediate result is a smooth acceleration in the work being done by the 2,300 bishops meeting in St. Peter's Basilica.

In ecclesiastical terms, major differences since the council first opened on Oct. 11, 1962, have been between the theological and the pastoral approach to reshaping the church in the light of modern times. The former school contains many leaders of the traditionalist or conservative view. It has great strength in the Italian hierarchy of about 430 bishops and in the Vatican Curia, the administrative arm of the church.

Pope Paul VI's announcement of plans to revamp and internation-alize the Curia may have brought the message of reform home to the conservatives. But some progressives suggest the traditionalists may still be interpreting the Pope's words in formulas acceptable to themselves.

Bigger Role for Laymen

The progressives are seeking a wider interpretation of the church's nature, extensive readjustments in its practices, a bigger role for laymen and a more open approach to other Christian bodies.

Their efforts are credited with obtaining the massive revision of data which went on in the nine-month recess.

Three days ago, the progressives won a signal victory. A massive vote of approval in principle was given to a revised form of "De Ecclesia," the bulky thesis on redefinition of the church which Pope John last December ordered revised because it was too narrowly ecclesiastic to meet the spirit of the times.

Educator Killed Before Governor Can Thank
Her for Teaching Him

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—A little boy starting school was sent home after two days with a note that he "was uneducatable" because of stuttering.

Another teacher took the boy and taught him how to speak.

In disclosing this, Gov. Cliff Hansen told the Wyoming Education Association, "I did want her to hear me speak (before she died). Because it was due to her efforts that I can."

The teacher, Mrs. Martha Marean, was killed in a highway accident near Bushnell, Neb., last week.

Overemphasis of Devotion to Mary Upsets Some Prelates

BY JOHN GALE

VATICAN CITY (AP)—An American Roman Catholic prelate asserted today that exaggerated devotion to the Virgin Mary lead only to blasphemy, embarrassment and pathetic deviations on the part of Catholic worshipers.

The statement came from Archbishop Paul J. Hallinan of Atlanta, Ga., commenting on concern expressed at the Vatican Ecumenical Council by a group of Latin American prelates on overemphasis of the virgin in their countries.

The observations of the Latin American prelates—45 of the almost 900 from that region—has raised the question of whether the council should proceed with separate study of a thesis on Mary.
The thesis—or schema as it is called here—is expected to come before the 2,300 council fathers during this session, scheduled to close Dec. 4.

The Latin American group wants it incorporated in "de ec-clesia." The thesis on church redefinition now is being debated in St. Peter's Basilica. They say to place the virgin in a separate area of study might encourage devotional exaggerations.

Archbishop Hallinan said he believed a clear statement on the position of the Roman Catholic Church should be made to demonstrate to "those not of our faith that true Catholic life is centered in Christ." Many Protestants look critically at the emphasis given to Mary in some Catholic devotions.

Texan Salvaging Gems From Sea

Gamble Has Paid Off to Tune Of $2 Million by Mid-1963

BY WESSEL DE KOCK
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Samuel Vernon Collins, pioneer of a diamonds-from-the-sea venture, seems on his way to becoming the biggest single diamond producer in southern Africa. His operation of salvaging gems from the ocean depths, started as a near gamble 15 months ago, is a sparkling success.

Marine Diamond Corp., of which Collins, 50, is controlling director, had recovered almost 60,000 carats of diamonds worth approximately $2 million by mid-1963, he says.

It has made the landlubbers—the diamond mining concerns—used to digging for treasure on land—sit up and take notice. De Beers, the worldwide diamond combine, has loaned Marine Diamond $2.8 million. Six other companies, one of them linked with American oil millionaire J. Paul Getty, hold concessions for about 700 miles of South West Africa coastline from the high water mark to six miles out.

Marine Diamond has operated with one small pilot barge but is expanding its floating mining camps.

Up Production
Collins says the aim is to push production to 300,000 carats a month. If this happens, it will put Collins atop the list of South African-controlled diamond mining concerns.

If it is a matter of luck with diamonds, it seems as if Collins will reach his goal. Even when one of his mining barges ran aground recently, fate dealt him an ace. While inspecting the wreck, his man found the biggest diamond a 14 1/2 carat, blue-white diamond valued at $14,000 in the rough and $22,000 when cut.

Collins, who says he is a millionaire, puffed at his cigar and laughed when he heard the news. "I'm keeping it as a souvenir," he said.

Barren Land

The 400-mile long concession of Atlantic Ocean waters where Collins has been striking it rich has as its coastline a treacherous and barren stretch of land.

Here men have been mining for diamonds for 50 years. On the north bank of the Orange River, where it flows into the sea, is the vast Consolidated Diamond Mines. Farther south are the government alluvial diggings.

As early as 1857 Collins toyed with the idea of searching for diamonds off the rich inland fields. He eventually proved what the old-time prospectors only guessed at—that the gem-rich aggregate continued from the desert coast to the sea bed.

How the diamonds got there is an open question. Some say they were washed down by rivers. Others maintain that the diamonds found their source through underground channels.

From Texas

Collins, of Beaumont, Texas, heads a string of construction firms specializing in the laying of submarine pipelines. An engineer by training, he rigged up a method to fish for diamonds.

He and his associates started prospecting late in 1961, using a converted British navy tug, the Emerson K, named after one of Collins' right-hand men, Emerson Kailey, 43, of Freeport, Ill.

The tug was fitted with a vacuum cleaner-type of tube for sucking samples from the ocean floor. When likely areas had been found, Collins brought a barge from Kuwait to South West Africa.

This floating mining camp, Barge 77, able to house 53 men, started operations.

134 Carats Needed
The average daily take sometimes topped 200 carats. It had been reckoned that 134 carats were necessary to pay operating costs.

A few months ago, 77 foundered in a storm and $700,000 worth of equipment was taken from the wreck to be installed in a bigger barge, 111.

Collins' base in Cape Town is about 400 miles from the center of dredging operations.

Here he supervises the dockyard refitting of a 4,884-ton World War II tank-landing ship.

When completed, the vessel will have cost $2.8 million. It will have a living space for about 100 men and six dredging points. It is counted on to produce about 75,000 carats a month.

To reach his goal of 300,000 carats a month, Collins plans to buy two ore-carrying ships. When the converted ore-carriers are put into operation, Collins hopes to surpass the production of every other individual company.

Article of AHS Grad Published In Atlantic

Dr. Edward Weismiller, a 1931 graduate of Appleton High School, has an article, "Fact and Fancy," published in the October issue of the Atlantic magazine. A noted poet, Dr. Weismiller is a teacher at Pomona College at Claremont, Calif.

While attending AHS, Weismiller was a member of the "Talisman" staff and of Quill and Scroll. In 1939, AHS named its Quill and Scroll chapter "The Edward Weismiller Chapter" to honor the already famous poet.

After graduating from Cornell College, he was a Rhodes scholar to Oxford University. Following the war, Weismiller taught at Harvard University, from which he received his master's degree.

Before he was 30, he was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship to the New Zealand. Weismiller took his doctorate degree from Oxford.

First Recognition
The Chicago magazine, "Poetry," established by Harriet Monroe to aid new writers, was credited with first bringing public attention to his works in 1935.

College Notes

Kimberly Girl Spending Junior Year in France

Jacqueline L. Berben, 1116 W. Third St., Kimberly, is among 21 University of Wisconsin students who are spending their junior year studying in the University at Aix-en-Provence in France.

The Wisconsin students, along with 15 others from the University of Michigan participating in the jointly sponsored Wisconsin-Michigan program, recently arrived in France and are now spending six weeks of intensive study of the French language before their university classes start in October.

The program was launched in September, 1962, with support from the Carnegie Corporation for students of honors caliber with demonstrated competence in French, the language of instruction. The first year's group "achieved everything we hoped for," according to Prof. Henry B. Hill, coordinator of UW International Studies and Program.

Ann Vanderloop, Appleton, was one of eight St. Norbert College students named winners of the first music performance awards competition sponsored by the college. She was a second place winner in the instrumental competition. Partial tuition scholarships, with the amount determined on the basis of financial need, go to each of the winners for the current school year.

Each entrant had to perform two compositions from memory within a 10-minute period. To be eligible, the entrants had to be full-time students at St. Norbert majoring in music. The competition will be an annual event.

Richard Ottman, 1728 N. Alvin St., Appleton, is one of nine Carroll College, Waukesha, students who returned to campus two days early this fall to learn the operation of a new card system electronic computer which is being used by the mathematics department. Six of the students will be computer supervisors for use by math students during the school year. Ottman, a chemistry major, and two others joined the training group with an eye on possible use of the computer in the work of their departments.

Three students from Appleton were among the 216 upperclassmen at the University of Wisconsin who served as student guides and helped welcome new students to the UW campus during the New Student Program. They are Judy Hart, 1749 N. Elinor St., Herman Kahura, 804 W. Summer St., and Sue Warming, 104 E. Glendale Ave.

Jack Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson, 427 10th St., Neenah, has been named Cadet Lieutenant Colonel and Battalion Commander of the Ripon College ROTC unit. He is a senior and a graduate of Neenah High School.

William Kuehl, son of Mrs. son.

Alice Kuehl, 666 Chestnut St., Neenah, has been named Cadet Captain and B Company Commander of the Ripon College ROTC unit. He is a graduate of Neenah High School.

Barbara Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Gardner, route 2, Seymour, has been elected treasurer of the freshman class at Stout State College, Menominee.

Shirley Gitter, daughter of Mrs. Orville Gitter, 1123 W. Summer St., will be among 22 Carthage College, Kenosha, students who will be honored at a convocation Oct. 18 for maintaining a grade point average in the upper 10 percent of the class in the second semester last year.

Elizabeth Letter, Menasha, and Ronald Peterson, Larsen, have been named to the dean's list of students who achieved first academic honors for the second semester last year at Whitewater State College. A total of 117 students earned grade points of 3.50 or higher on a 4.0 system, making them eligible for first honors.

Miss Letter, daughter of Mrs. Walter Letter, 412 Appleton St., Menasha, has completed her junior year at Whitewater, where she is majoring in business education. Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Peterson, route 1, Larsen, received his B.Ed. degree in business education at the May commencement.

John R. Shepard II, 1031 E. Grant St., Appleton, was pledged to Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity at the State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa, at the close of the fall "rushing" season.

AAL Earns 2 High Awards In Advertising

Seven of Hundreds Of Entries Receive 'Excellent' Rating

Aid Association for Lutherans, competing with the largest in-U.S. government's efforts so far, insurance companies in the United States and Canada, has received nations into better order as most two "awards of excellence" for its little and too late. But advertising and prestige material some add the hope that a recent apparent change of heart toward more cooperation with other nations still can do the trick.

The awards were presented to the AAL following the recent convention of the Life Advertising Association in Toronto.

In competition with the AAL were all major insurance companies who insure clients for a total of more than $1 billion.

Seven Got Award
Only seven of the several hundred entries in the category of national printed advertising were given the excellence award.

Fuzzy Duckling
AAL's entry, designed and developed by Creative Group, Inc., an Appleton advertising agency, was a series of advertisements aimed at the younger potential buyer.

One of the ads showed a small, fuzzy duckling and bore the caption "Insurance at my age?"

The entry in the prestige materials field was a booklet, designed, also by the Appleton advertising firm, for young couples and titled "Sharing Christian Family Memories."

Major Family Events
The book contained space for photographs and recording information pertaining to all the major events in a family's life.

Victor Zarembo, AAL advertising and sales promotion director, praised Creative Group for their work in developing the materials.

Three items of 14 judges each chose the winning materials from those submitted by the 500 insurance companies which are members of the Life Advertising Association.

In announcing the winners, the advertising association said those who received the award distinguished themselves by producing advertising "superior to the high standard set by the rest of the industry."

The AAL won a similar award in 1961 for material submitted in the sales aids division.

Met Artist Rejects Contract for 1963

NEW YORK (AP)—Licia Albanese, Italian-born soprano who has starred at the Metropolitan Opera for 23 years, has rejected this season's contract, but her husband says it's not because of money.

Miss Albanese is married to Joseph A. Gimma, a millionaire broker, and he said it was the number and type of roles provided in the contract that made her turn it down.

"She is a fine artist," said Met manager Rudolf Bing. "We are disappointed she will not sign."

Efforts to Halt Dollar Drain Disappointing

International Bankers Feel U. S. Change of Attitude Toward World Can Still Do Job

BY SAM DAWSON
Associated Press News Analyst
NEW YORK —(AP)—International bankers here criticize the U.S. government's efforts so far to get its accounts with other States and Canada, has received nations into better order as most two "awards of excellence" for its little and too late. But advertising and prestige material some add the hope that a recent apparent change of heart toward more cooperation with other nations still can do the trick.

For two years now the United States has been struggling to save its remaining gold reserves, trim the disquieting buildup of dollars in foreign hands, keep the good name of the dollar above reproach, and at the same time fulfill all its worldwide commitments.

What has it been trying? And how do bankers here think it's been doing?

Prime Goal
— More exports is a prime goal. But difficulties (like the chicken war) pile up abroad and American industrialists say just as hard to sell.

— Spending abroad by U.S. officials and military personnel has been cut. But most moves have been cut. But most moves have been cut.

Outside Money
President Kennedy, plugging his tax cut proposals, see this as increasing prosperity here. This could make U.S. investments more attractive to foreigners and Americans alike, thus bringing in more outside money and keeping more dollars at home.

Financial arrangements with the International Monetary Fund should help. David Rockefeller, president of Chase Manhattan Bank, New York, applauds the move to borrow up to $500 million in gold if needed to defend the dollar.

The close interlacing of the balance of payments and gold problems of the United States with the financial and economic affairs of the rest of the Western world has been tackled this week by the boards of governors of the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, the International Finance Corporation and the International Development Association in Washington.

New York bankers hope that new studies and new efforts will succeed where past attempts by this country alone have been disappointing.

St. Norbert College Has Record Enrollment Of 1,227 Students

DE PERE — A record enrollment of 1,227 students at St. Norbert College has been reported by the Rev. Norbert Manders, O. Praem., registrar.

The figure, which includes all students taking courses for credit, surpasses the previous high enrollment at St. Norbert of 1,188 students, set a year ago, and represents an increase of 3.3 per cent.

Father Manders also reported an increase in women students' enrollment. A total of 406 women are enrolled this year, compared to 346 last fall. They now account for 33 per cent of the total student body, compared to 29 per cent a year ago.

The chief reason for the increase in women students was completion of the first women's residence hall at St. Norbert this year. The building holds 176 students.

Another men's dormitory, which will be the third, is scheduled for completion late this year. It will accommodate 232 students.

The enrollment total includes 371 beginning freshmen, compared to 336 a year ago.

Last year St. Norbert was the largest of Wisconsin's private colleges in total number of credit students enrolled. Comparable figures from other institutions are not yet available for the current school year.

Earthquake Hits Japanese Island

TOKYO (AP)—A fairly strong earthquake rolled through Kyushu, Japan's southernmost island, today. There were no reports of damage, or injuries.

The Central Meteorological Agency said the tremor had a maximum recorded intensity of four on the scale of seven.

Ultimatum Issued on Sewer Hookup

SHIOCTON — All known violators of the ordinance which set Oct. 1 as the deadline when all homes must be connected to the new village sewer system have been notified they have 10 days to make the connection.

Village Clerk Earl Kuehler said if connections are not made within the specified time, the village will make the connections and the cost added to the individuals' property tax.

Name Easter Seal Delegates From Outagamie

Delegates from the Outagamie County Easter Seal Society to the annual meeting and educational conference of the Wisconsin Easter Seal Society in Eau Claire, Friday and Saturday will be Harold W. Miller, Appleton, president, and Mrs. William Helm, Appleton, treasurer.

Mrs. H. W. Miller, past president of the Wisconsin Easter Seal Society and a member of the board of directors, also will attend.

New officers of the Outagamie County Easter Seal Society are: Miller, president; Mrs. Carl Chopin, Kaukauna, vice president; Mrs. Helm, treasurer, and Mrs. Arnold Wochos, Appleton, secretary.

Directors elected to serve for three years are Mrs. Hazel Ludke, Kaukauna; Miss Barbara Trachte, Appleton; Mrs. Fred Gehrke, Appleton; Mrs. Harold Winius, Kimberly; Miss Caroline Wolk, Seymour, and Mrs. Gerald Cardin, Appleton.

The Outagamie County society collected an all-time high of $8,719 in its fund-raising campaign this year.

The county society has extended an invitation to the state society to hold its annual meeting in Appleton this year.

Justice Goldberg Aids Student Stopped for Speeding in S. Carolina

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP)—College student Adrian King was in luck when an officer stopped him for speeding.

King had his lawyer with him—a very distinguished lawyer.

King was driving Arthur Goldberg, associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, from Winston-Salem, where he had visited Wake Forest College, to Greensboro, where he was to deliver a series of lectures.

"Young man, I think you had better let me handle this," the associate justice told King, and got out to talk with the policeman.

The student got off with a warning.

King blamed the incident Thursday on his unfamiliarity with the borrowed car he was driving. It belonged to Dr. Harold W. Tribble, president of Wake Forest.

Nelson Sees U. S. Action On Detergent Controls

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., said today that the Senate Public Works Committee has recommended for passage a bill to regulate the use of detergent chemicals which pollute water supplies.

Nelson, a long-time foe of so-called "hard" detergents, said the committee will report out the bill as part of a major federal water pollution act.

He called the detergent control features of the new bill as the "major step forward in the control of a growing public health problem."

OVERSEAS DELIVERY AVAILABLE

Why can't you buy the Karmann Ghia from a Karmann Ghia dealer?

Because there are no Karmann Ghia dealers. Only VW dealers. But what's the Karmann Ghia got to do with the Volkswagen? The answer is simple: The Karmann Ghia's got a lot to do with a Volkswagen because that's what it is. It has VW's chassis and 4-speed synchromesh transmission and torsion bar suspension and air-cooled won't-boil-over-or-freeze-up engine. It takes VW parts (except for the body) and VW service and regular gas in small amounts. (So it's as economical to run as a VW.)

U. S., Soviet Union Will Pledge Ban on Nuclear Satellites

Gromyko Plans Talks With President and Secretary Rusk

BY LEWIS GULICK

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A new East-West agreement in principle to outlaw nuclear-armed space satellites will be translated soon into a public U.S.-Soviet pledge, U.S. diplomatic sources predicted today.

"Agreement on policy . . . (against) nuclear weapons in orbit" was announced by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home Thursday night as they wound up a week of talks.

Gromyko has an appointment with President Kennedy next Thursday. He is expected to talk with Kennedy and Rusk in Washington about this and other possible follow-ups to the limited nuclear test ban treaty, plus items of direct concern between the United States and Russia.

Negotiations Wait

The big three foreign ministers put off for later negotiation the earth-bound disarmament plans on which they have been unable to agree. These plans, including a proposed East-West nonaggression pact and observer exchange, got tangled up with the thorny Germany-Berlin issue and have yet to be sorted out.

But in a joint four-sentence communique, the three saw potential accord in space.

Noting that Kennedy and Gromyko in their U.N. General Assembly speeches last month endorsed a ban on orbiting nuclear weapons, they said, "There is agreement on policy which it is hoped can be given appropriate form in the near future."

U.S. diplomats said today they expect the United States and Russia will soon follow through with a formal public declaration against orbiting nuclear weapons.

They predicted it would not be difficult to work out an agreed wording. The diplomats also said a formal treaty would not do because it could not be policed. They said a public promise will be suitable because, according to U.S. military opinion, an orbiting weapon would have little military purpose. Earth-based missiles are much more efficient.

Blood in Legs, Feet Problem For Astronauts

BY HOWARD BENEDICT

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Medical experts involved in planning future U.S. manned space flights are concerned about the pooling of blood in the legs and feet of astronauts after lengthy orbital travel.

Astronauts Walter M. Schirra and Leroy Gordon Cooper Jr. both experienced this blood circulation difficulty, called orthostatic hypotension, after their respective 6 and 22-orbit flights. Four other American spacemen on shorter missions showed no signs of the disorder.

Big Medical Problem

Dr. Charles A. Berry told Project Mercury review conference today that the condition was the major medical problem uncovered during America's pioneer man-in-space program.

Berry, chief of the medical operations office of the space agency's Manned Spacecraft Center, said orbital flight up to 34 hours—the length of Cooper's ride—posed no other significant physical or physiological problem.

Berry said Schirra and Cooper displayed symptoms of orthostatic hypotension for about seven hours after their return from space. In both cases, the condition disappeared during the pilots' first nap on return to earth.

Effects were a significant drop in blood pressure, higher pulse rate and reddening of the legs and feet as blood pooled in the lower extremities. Cooper also showed a brief sign of faintness on leaving his capsule after landing.

Democrats of Middle West Discuss Issues

Party Leaders of 14 States Launch Madison Conference

MADISON (AP)—Democratic party leaders from 14 states gathered in Madison today for an exchange of views on state issues that will figure in next year's elections.

The occasion was the Democratic Midwest Conference, a three-day affair that will feature an address Saturday night by President's special assistant, Ted Sorensen, and conclude Sunday with action on a number of resolutions.

2 More Conferences

The conference is the first of three regional huddles the party's Midwest leadership plans before the 1964 presidential election. National issues will be the theme of the second meeting next spring, and campaign strategy will be the topic of the third.

While state issues were to occupy conference delegates, some early arrivals were caught up in speculation on whom the Repub-

Storm Ravages Alaskan Region

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—A storm packing winds of better than 80 miles an hour wrecked homes and fuel supplies at Barrow, the most northern settlement in North America, Thursday. One man was reported injured and he was released after treatment.

State Sen. Eben Hopson told Gov. William A. Egan the loss would exceed $250,000. Others indicated it would run much higher.

At least 20 homes were destroyed and a number of military and civilian aircraft were wrecked.

Many persons were evacuated to higher ground. The Red Cross planned to fly relief supplies and personnel into Barrow today.

No Early Threat to U. S. Mainland; Heavy Losses Feared in Negro Republic

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane threat to the U.S. mainland, about 300 miles away, for at least two days, if at all. The big U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, a thorn in the side of Fidel Castro's Communist island, was expected to come under the storm in good shape.

For nine hours Thursday night and today, Flora pounded Haiti with 140-mile-an-hour fury. The Negro nation was left isolated from the world, with all communications out.

At 11 a.m. (EST), the hurricane was just off mountainous Oriente Province. Her top winds, which had dropped to 115 miles an hour over Haiti, had steamed back up to 125.

Gordon Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami weather bureau, said it appeared that the hurricane might spend all day over Cuba. If it does, it would be greatly weakened when it finally re-enters the Atlantic.

Could Renew Force

However, regeneration of the storm still would be likely over open water and the Central Bahama Islands would come into the range.

An 11 a.m. (EST) advisory from the weather bureau placed the storm center at latitude 19.4 north, longitude 74.9 west, or about 40 miles south-southeast of Guantanamo Bay and 575 miles southeast of Miami. It was moving slowly northwest at 7 miles an hour.

A sad story was expected to come from Haiti when communications are re-established. Forecasters were worried about what is yet to come. Forecasters said there is no

MICHELET, Algeria (AP)—The leaders of the Berber revolt have rejected Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella's appeal to abandon their rebellion and join him at the conference table.

T. E. Orbison, 75, Dies After 4-Week Illness

Owned Engineering Firm, Served YMCA As President 10 Years

Thomas E. Orbison, Sr., 75, 319 S. Meade St., of Orbison and Orbison, Inc., a firm of consulting engineers, died at 2:10 a. m. Friday after a four-week illness.

Memorial services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday in the First Congregational Church with the Rev. Edward C. Dahl officiating. Arrangements are under direction of Wichmann Funeral Home.

Orbison was born May 24, 1888, in Appleton, a son of Thomas W. and Irene Ballard Orbison. He attended Appleton schools, graduating from Lawrence Academy. He attended Lawrence College, transferring to Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y., where he graduated in 1910.

After working for General Electric Company in New York State for about a year, he returned to Appleton and formed a partnership with his father in Orbison and

T. E. Orbison Sr.

Orbison, consulting engineers. He also became associated with Appleton Woolen Mills and was a director of that company for 25 years.

He was a member of the First Congregational Church where he served as a trustee and deacon for many years.

Orbison was president of the Appleton YMCA for about 10 years and continued to support the Y efforts in an advisory capacity. He was a past president of the Appleton Rotary Club, past president of the Appleton Cemetery Association and for 20 years was secretary of the Riverview Country Club. He was a 32nd degree Mason.

An officer in the Army Corps of Engineers during World War I, he also was a member of the American Legion.

Continued Cloudy and Warmer for Weekend

Fox Cities—Partly cloudy and warmer tonight with a low near 46. Saturday will be partly cloudy and mild and the high will be about 70. Winds will be moderate from the southwest.

Appleton—Observations at 9 a.m. today. Temperatures for the 24-hour period: High 65; low 46. Wind velocity: 10 miles an hour from the south. Barometer: 30.23 and rising. Relative humidity: 72 per cent. Dew point: 49. Temperature: 58. Skies: Cloudy. Rainfall: None.

Gradual Viet Nam Pull-Back

Slow Withdrawal Likely for Troops

BY FRED S. HFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. troop withdrawal from South Viet Nam will be a slow, draining-off process whose tempo is likely to rise next year.

The gradual pull-back of the nearly 15,000 American military men now there will be keyed to what U.S. officials believe will be a steady strengthening of the South Vietnamese Army's ability to stand on its own feet.

Stability Vital Another indispensable condition—as underscored by a White House announcement Wednesday night—is internal political stability in Communist-beleaguered South Viet Nam.

The special mission headed by Secretary of Defense Robert S.

An AP News Analysis

McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, returned satisfied that the Saigon government's repression of Buddhists has not so far eroded the morale and fighting effectiveness of the South Vietnamese Army.

McNamara and Taylor are not eliminating the possibility erosion might set in if repressions continue—and for that reason the White House underscored U.S.

concern that the political situation in Viet Nam remains "deeply serious."

U. S. Continues Pressure

It seems apparent that McNamara and Taylor believe that the war can be won with the regime of President Ngo Dinh Diem in power.

But the White House statement, based on their report to President Kennedy, was clear notice to the Diem government that this country expects it to halt its repressive measures—and that U.S. pressure toward that end will continue.

By fixing the end of 1965 as the target for winding up the main U.S. military effort in South Viet Nam, the Kennedy administration has put itself on a limb it has avoided in the past.

Negroes Air Demands on Mormons

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Negro leaders told officials of the Mormon Church Thursday night that unless they meet certain demands, Negroes might picket the 133rd church conference which opened here today.

A spokesman for the Negroes said they want the church to go on record in support of President Kennedy's civil rights program; to back civil rights legislation in Utah, and to endorse "the principle of equality of opportunity for all Americans."

The demands were presented at an hour-long meeting between officials of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints and representatives of the Utah chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People.

Members of the NAACP will vote tonight on whether to picket the conference.

Woman's Campaign Against Old Tires Brings Ban in Wisconsin

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin has a new law today because a man forgot an old adage: Never underestimate the power of a woman.

Nearly a year ago, Mrs. John Melsha, 35, a housewife from New Berlin in suburban Milwaukee, expressed interest in buying a used car. She took the car for a trial spin and then complained about the tires.

"I had someone examine the tires and learned they were old, bald tires and grooves had been put in without adding new rubber to build up the tire," she said. "I contended this made tires too weak and made them dangerous to use."

Futile Complaints Mrs. Melsha's complaints to the used car dealer were useless. He told her nothing could be done about regrooving of tires.

"I told him we'd see about that," said Mrs. Melsha, the mother of two children.

Mrs. Melsha's fight ended Thursday when Gov. John W. Reynolds signed into law a bill prohibiting the regrooving of worn tires in Wisconsin. The governor noted it was a personal triumph for her.

Testifies at Hearing Mrs. Melsha took her battle first to the New Berlin Women's Club. Then she enlisted the aid of other women's clubs and safety organizations throughout the state. She even returned to school to brush up on her typing, realizing many letters would have to be written.

Mrs. Melsha, whose husband works for an electrical contractor, convinced her assemblyman, Vincent Matthews of Waukesha, to introduce a bill. Then she made two trips to the state Capitol in Madison to testify before legislative committees. She had support from women's groups, safety groups and the Wisconsin unit of the American Automobile Association.

At one hearing, a taxi firm opposed the bill. At another, a Milwaukee area tire firm attempted to reach a compromise.

"They wanted to amend the bill so that regrooved tires could be used if labeled," Mrs. Melsha said. "Then I really fumed."

Notified of the governor's action in signing the anti-regrooving bill, Mrs. Melsha said: "What a thrill. What a night I'm going to have." Then she headed for her women's club to report.

Whitewater Freshman Named Top 4-H Leader

Nancy Polk, Chilton, to be Honored at Annual Meeting of Calumet Association

CHILTON — A Whitewater State College freshman, Miss Nancy Polk, Chilton, has been named Calumet County's top junior 4-H leader for 1963.

Members of the county junior leaders association made the selection at their annual meeting here this week. Miss Polk will be honored during the annual achievement program at the Chilton High School auditorium Oct. 26. She has been an active junior leader for three years and was association secretary for the past two years.

Miss Polk is majoring in com-

Top Leader

The top leader and recipient of a 4-H jacket was selected from a field of some 25 candidates.

In other business Ronald Steiner, route 1, New Holstein, was elected new association president. Steiner has been a 4-H member for eight years, a junior leader for two years and this past summer he served as a camp counselor at Chute Lake.

Carol Englehardt, route 1, Menasha, was elected vice president. A two-year junior leader, Miss Englehardt has been conservation project leader for her club and surrounding clubs last year.

Kathy Brantmeier, Sherwood, is secretary. Miss Brantmeier was association treasurer last year and has a long record of hard work for the association and her club.

9-County Area
Dick Koehler, route 1, Chilton, replaces Miss Brantmeier as treasurer. Koehler is also on the state junior leader council and represents a nine-county area on the state board.

Association reporter is Pamela Kees, route 1, Menasha. A one-year member, she represented the county in state fair demonstration competition this year.

Directors are Donald Pfister, Reuben Ott and Arlys Reif. Ott has been a junior leader for five years; Pfister for two years, and Miss Reif for a year.

Calumet Agent Raps Short Course Lethargy

CHILTON—County Agent Orrin Meyer this week rapped what appears to be a lack of interest on the part of the county's youth to attend the University of Wisconsin's farm short course.

The county in past years has sent as many as 10 boys to Madison for the special course, now there is seldom more than one, he said.

A number of scholarships are available to county youth, he said. Information is available from his office.

Favorable Spring Aids Pond Work

Calumet County Project Called
One of Best Ever Constructed

CHILTON—A highly productive spring serves as the key to one of the better farm ponds ever constructed in Calumet County, according to Bruno Zucollo, U. S. Soil Conservation Service agent.

The one-acre pond completed on the farm of John Klotz and Edward Puetz, just north of Stockdiversions. They empty into a large waterway Ecker constructed two years ago.

Other Stockbridge projects include a waterway with tile by Gerald Moelin and ditching on the Charles Winkler farm.

The major project in the Town of Rantoul was a mile of waterways with tile on the Earl Hackbarth farm.

Some new strip crop markings, including what is perhaps the longest single strip in the county at seven-eighths of a mile, was laid out on the Alex Woelfel Jr. farm, rural New Holstein. He added about 40 acres to the program and now has a total of about 125 acres laid out for strip cropping.

Other New Holstein area projects are a wildlife pond by George Toepel and waterways and ditches by Walter Schneider, James Mertens and Joseph Bonlander.

In Charlestown Leonard Kolber finished a waterway and diversion; Roman Kolbet excavated m. at the Chester Dorn farm on two ditches, and Henry Horst completed a large ditch and diversion. The John Schmalz, Mike Schreiber, Peter Mischler farm, two miles southeast of Kaukauna on County Trunk Q and one mile east on Weiler Road.

At both plots, there will be 15 different Wisconsin hybrids ranging in maturity, from 85 to 105 days. In addition, there will be 12 commercial (private) hybrids, all of 95-day maturity.

The farms have two different plant populations, one medium and the other, high. Discussions will be held on the moisture content, the yield and the disease resistance of the different corn varieties.

The discussions at the plots will be led by Elwood Brickbauer, extension specialist from the University of Wisconsin. Farmers and all interested parties have been invited to attend.

MANAWA — Russell O'Harrow, Wisconsin Farm Bureau director for Oconto County, will speak at the annual meeting of the Waupaca County Farm Bureau at 8 p.m., Oct. 8. The meeting will be held at Blue Haven Ballroom.

Officers were elected at the October meeting of the Sherwood Wide Awake 4-H Club.

Mary Beth Brantmeier will serve as president. Other officers are Barbara Peters, vice president, Carol Englehardt, secretary, Pamela Kees, treasurer, and Susanne Thiel, reporter.

Reports on the livestock show at Green Bay and the junior leaders workshop at Calumet County Park were given by Bruce Jahnke, Mary Beth Brantmeier and Paula Thiel.

A window display depicting "A Salute to 4-H Leaders and Parents" will be erected during November by Pamela Kees, Mary Beth Brantmeier, and Paula Thiel.

Demonstrations were given by Jane Smet, Karen Kress, Mary Gillis and Christine Jahnke.

PCA Forms Short Course Scholarships

Two $100 scholarship for the University of Wisconsin Agricultural short course have been established by the Production Credit Association of Appleton, according to Frank Clapper, PCA manager.

Clapper said the board, headed by Clarence F. Koehler, West Bloomfield, announced the scholarships at the August meeting. Clapper said the board felt such scholarship would be helpful to persons planning to engage in farming because of the added technical knowledge needed for agriculture.

Scholarships will be available to students from the five-county area served by the PCA, Clapper said. Applicants will be required to write a theme chosen by the PCA board.

Grants of the scholarships will be made by the university on approval of the board.

Counties served by the Appleton PCA are Outagamie, Waupaca, Waushara, Calumet and Winnebago.

Holstein-Friesian Unit Accepts Neenah Youth

Reed Winkenwerder, Neenah, has been accepted for junior membership in the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Brattleboro, Vt.

To qualify, junior members must be under 21, and have completed one year of successful 4-H or vocational agriculture dairy project work. They must own at least one registered Holstein in their name.

Special Field Day

A special harvest field day is scheduled at Spooner at the University of Wisconsin experimental farm Oct. 9. Activities are field tours of corn varieties, weed control in corn, soybean and potato variety demonstration plots. Orrin Berge, University of Wisconsin agricultural engineer, will demonstrate corn picker and combine adjustment for harvest.

Fall Is Best Time To Buy Feed Grains

UW Farm Management Expert Says Prices Will be Lowest During Next Month or Two

Farmers who find their feed grain sorghums produced the in-year. Larger acreages of corn and grain sorghums produced the increase, Johnson says.

155 Million Tons

Total feed grain use for 1963-64 is estimated at 155 million tons — slightly higher than last year. Based on these estimates there will be a reduction of 8 million tons in carryover stocks. Feed grain prices for 1963-64 will average about the same as last year, but prices this year should stay above the loan price. The loan rate for corn in 1963 will be down from $1.20 to $1.07 a bushel. Oats will be supported at 65 cents a bushel—3 cents higher than last year.

A new regulation this year prevents the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) from selling feed grains below the loan price as they did in 1961 and 1962. This means that prices this year for feed grains will average near the loan rate plus storage and handling costs, Johnson says.

High Protein Feeds

Production of high protein feeds is expected to reach record levels this year, but prices will remain the same or move slightly higher than present prices. Demand on both the export and domestic markets continues strong.

The quantity of high protein feeds available this year will just keep pace with expanding livestock numbers, Johnson says. But the trend toward increased consumption per animal unit may push prices upward.

Governor Will Address Meeting Of Cooperatives

Hugo Breit, president of the Wisconsin Association of Cooperatives, announced Gov. John W. Reynolds has accepted an invitation to speak at the annual meeting of the association at the Woodson YMCA in Wausau at 6:15 p.m. Monday.

In addition to Reynolds, Prof. Henry Bakken, University of Wisconsin, will show pictures of Finland and talk about "Cooperation Inside the Arctic Circle." Prof. Bakken recently spent six months lecturing at the University of Finland.

At the banquet, awards for work with cooperatives will be given to William Bauman, Middleton, vice president of Pure Milk Products Cooperative; Charles Kingston, Spooner, long time director at Spooner; Roy E. Richards, Milwaukee, manager of the Wisconsin Wool Growers Association; and William Rohrbeck, Wisconsin Dells, director of the Kilbourn Cooperative Exchange.

The banquet is part of the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Association of Cooperatives. The general sessions will conclude Tuesday morning with talks by Henry Ahlgren, associate extension director of the University of Wisconsin, and Albert Haufler, president of the National Rural Municipality Electric Cooperative Association.

4-H Dairy Project Is Good Training

Partnership With Parent Another Method of Learning

BY COURTNEY SCHWERTZ
Outagamie County Agent

A 4-H dairy project allows many Wisconsin youths to try their hand at managing a dairy enterprise. Some of these young people decide to make dairying their career.

How do I get started in dairy farming. This is a question frequently asked by potential farmers.

Partnership with parents is one arrangement often used. The partnership has advantages for both father and son. The son is usually able to furnish the majority of the labor and only a small portion of the capital. The parent furnishes the farm and most of personal property.

The parent-son partnership is a good arrangement, but is strewn with pitfalls for those who don't plan carefully. Size of the dairy operation is an important consideration.

The operation needs to be large enough to produce adequate incomes for the families on the farm. This may require expansion of the dairy enterprise. Expansion requires additional financing. Both the father and the son should consider repayment schedules that will insure adequate incomes for both families after paying operating expenses and debt payments.

Written agreements and good records are a must. These help avoid disputes which may arise later. It is very important that the details concerning income and expense be clearly spelled out and agreed upon. Partners should determine the contribution expected from each other and share income and expenses proportionately. A lawyer can offer you helpful advice in drawing up the written agreement.

Good records are a must to evaluate and measure the satisfactory operation of any business. Records are especially critical to the success of a partnership arrangement.

In partnerships, the everyday working conditions are important. Both members of the partnership should have opportunities to jointly participate in decisions. Even the matter of living quarters is important to the success of the operation. Separate housing facilities often produce better working conditions when both members of the partnership are married.

'Double Deck Feed Bunk'

Kaukauna Man Earns Farm Machine Patent

KAUKAUNA—Eugene P. Haen, route 3, recently received a U.S. patent for his "double deck feed bunk."

Haen delivers feed from an overhead supply source, such as a hopper, to either of two stacked feed bunks. Its purpose is to eliminate the costly expenditures of separate feeding arrangements for cattle and hogs.

The lower assembly is made of a pair of longitudinal troughs for feeding hogs. The upper assembly comprises a series of hinged individual decks or bunks which receive and hold feed for cattle.

Auger-Type Conveyor

The apparatus includes an auger-type conveyor by which the feed is delivered to the bunks, a deflector plate, a roof structure, an operating crank and other parts by which the results are achieved.

When hog feed is delivered to the device, the hopper is filled and the crank is used to raise the hinged upper decks to the positions which allows the hog feed, delivered by the auger conveyor, to fall into the lower troughs.

After the feed has been distributed, the hopper may be loaded with cattle feed, which is discharged on the upper decks.

Many Advantages

He explained that the feed bunks may be swung at an angle to the horizontal to facilitate cleaning, dumping of accumulated snow, and to prevent access

Dinner Planned Tuesday at Waupaca Church

WAUPACA—Leaders and graduate 4-H club members will be honored 8 p.m. Tuesday at the annual 4-H leaders recognition banquet at the First Methodist Church.

About 250 people are expected to attend the dinner, including leaders and their wives and husbands.

Adult Leaders

The speaker will be Gerald Apps, Madison, assistant state 4-H leader.

Certificates of leadership will be presented to the leaders and 17 of the 26 graduates. One of the features will be the presentation of a 20-year continuous service pin to Miss Evelyn Kapitke, Waupaca.

She also will receive recognition at the annual state 4-H leaders banquet Oct. 30, in Madison.

Entertainment will be provided by the Waupaca Mill club's accordion trio.

Arrangements for the dinner and program are being completed by the leaders' banquet committee, under the direction of Mrs. Clarence Regel, Weyauwau-ge, chairman.

The Women's Society of Christ-ian Service of the First Metho-dist Church will serve the dinner.

Youth Group Selects Yearbook Committee

Ted Bobbh, Sheila VerVoort and Alan Staley were appointed to as-semble the year book at the Sep-tember meeting of the Outagamie County Older Youth group of the Farm Bureau at the home of Rich-ard Landwerth.

Gloria Jeske reported on trips to the state fair and the state com-mittee meeting. Joan Yorgorst re-ported on the Farm Bureau com- mitee meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Jeske.

CHILTON—Area farmers will have an opportunity to compare the development and growth rates of 13 different strains of corn at an open house Oct. 8 at the county corn demonstration plot, according to Orin W. Meyer, county agent.

The plot is located on the Robert Schwabe farm, seven miles west of here along U.S. 151. Planted side by side are 13 varieties of Wisconsin hybrids. Their maturity range is from 90 to 110 days. Several rows of "squaw" corn with colored ears add novelty to the plot.

Meyer will discuss hybrid corn and the results of the test plant- ing beginning at 1 p.m.

UW Explains Policy On Reorganization of State Center System

Includes Junior, Senior Work in 'Interest of Economy, Efficiency'

Including junior-senior work in listed three reasons for its recommendation: 1. because of the center system is "in the interest of growth and anticipated growth of the center system, 2. because of the mounting interest in additional third and fourth year university offerings outside of Madison and Milwaukee, and 3. because plans to reorganize and consolidate the university's extension and adult education services make this an appropriate time to relieve the Extension Division of its responsibilities for center administration.

The statement explained reasons for recommendations made by the administration and approved earlier this month by the board of regents for reorganizing the center system.

The statement also said that the administration wants a provost for the center system who will stress its community service role, and that the center faculty should be organized on an effective basis as soon as possible and should tackle some of its special problems through its own efforts.

Become Full Branch

The changes in center organization, effective next July 1, will raise the status of the center system to a full branch of the university with a provost in charge, and give the centers jurisdiction over any new junior-senior programs which the university may be authorized to offer outside of Madison and Milwaukee.

The regents also separated the center system from the Extension Division, under which it has operated for 40 years, and a committee was set up to plan consolidation of the adult education and extension activities of the university.

The administration's statement

Pleads Guilty Of Attacking Police Officer

A Bear Creek woman, mother of 10 children, is being held in the Outagamie County jail until Friday when she will be sentenced for resisting an officer.

Mrs. Shirley E. Reischel, 35, pleaded guilty Wednesday to the charge when she was arraigned before County Judge Gustave Keller. Judge Keller ordered the woman held without bond.

Mrs. Reischel was arrested after she threatened Sheriff Lt. Jack Frenzl with a kitchen knife after Frenzl and Lt. Joseph Vandenberg went to her home with a warrant for her son. The woman refused to allow her son to go with the officers and Frenzl then asked the woman to come with him to the sheriff's department. The woman grabbed the knife and came after him, Frenzl said. He knocked the knife from her hand and handcuffed her.

Judge Keller told the woman that the courts would not tolerate disrespect for police officers who are in the process of carrying out their official duties.

Clintonville High Pupils Vote for Homecoming Queen

CLINTONVILLE — Students at the senior high school voted Thursday for the homecoming queen on Oct. 26 from a field of five candidates. The name of the queen will be released at a later date.

The five candidates were Sue Barker, Sue Kasson, Nancy Karlson, Barb Olmsted and Janet Peters. Four of the girls will form the court of honor for the queen.

The five girls received the most votes of the football squad from a list of the top 20 voted by the students Wednesday.

2 County Area Hit By Thieves

Police Believe Work of 1 Group

NEW LONDON — Police from records were strewn about, but apparently no money was taken. Sheriff Loren Frazier said the rash of break-ins seems to be the work of a single group. He said they fit the pattern of similar crimes which have occurred in New London and Shawano.

In Same Building
The three stores near New London in Outagamie County are in the same building and were all entered through rear windows. The golf club was entered by breaking a rear window and a door leading to barroom.

At the golf club, a portable television set, a table radio and about 10 steaks were taken. In addition, a cigarette machine was badly damaged when the thieves tried to pry open the door to get to the coin box inside.

The steaks were taken from a refrigerator in the kitchen and the TV set was taken from the adjoining dining room. When the TV set was unplugged, an electric clock also was unplugged, marking the time of the theft at about 10:37 p.m.

Harold Brown, owner of Brown's Liquor Store, noticed some bottles of liquor missing when he opened his store Thursday morning. He found a rear window had been broken, but was unable to tell the exact number of liquor bottles taken.

Rugs, Radios Taken
In the two adjoining stores Simon Gruentzel, owner of the linoleum and carpet shop, said six small braided rugs were missing and at O'Neil Supply, four or five transistor radios were taken.

The break-in at the New London Golf Club was the third there this season. Each time it has been broken into, the cigarette machine has been opened or badly damaged in attempts to open it.

In "Who's Who"
This past summer she was visiting lecturer in the school of library science at the University of Wisconsin.

Mrs. Billings is listed in "Who's Who In The Middle West" and "Who's Who In Library Service." She is one of the founders of the school library section of the Wisconsin Library association and is currently on the Grolier-American scholarship committee of the American Library association.

From 1948 to 1950 she served as president of the Wisconsin Library association, and was secretary of that organization from 1948 to 1952. She also is a past president of the School Library Section of Wisconsin Education Association.

Hold Artificial Respiration Class
IOLA — A class in mouth-to-mouth resuscitation will be presented at 7:30 p. m. Monday in the Iola-Scandinavia high school. Earnest Boutin, a representative of the Wisconsin Law Enforcement Officers Association, will demonstrate mouth-to-mouth, artificial respiration, mouth-to-nose breathing for use when the jaws are locked, and removal of objects from the throat.

85 Visitors
They encouraged the women to the group and led the morning benediction. Mrs. Bernard Kankke, Clintonville, was in charge of the afternoon meditation.

Mrs. Kenneth Waid, a member of the group, said the women enjoyed the morning benediction and the afternoon meditation.

WEYAUWEGA — A program on candle making and the uses of candles was presented by Mrs. Dean Arndt and Mrs. Clarence Radtke at a meeting of the Weyauwega Garden Club.

The speakers talked on methods of candlemaking, the past history of candles and the correct usage in today's homes. They displayed six arrangements suitable for the holiday seasons.

Mrs. Radtke was elected regional treasurer at a recent meeting of the Central District Region of Garden Clubs. The yearbook of the local club received a blue ribbon rating at the state convention of Garden Clubs, placing in the top five of the state.

Mrs. Roland Paschke and Mrs. Harry Rasmussen served as hostesses for the meeting.

Clintonville Club Reviews 2 Books

CLINTONVILLE — The Book Review Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. L. A. DePolis, N. 12th St., for a 7:30 p.m. dessert.

Mrs. Albert Fritz reviewed "Black Like Me" by John Grifflin. Griffen, a white Texan, carried out his plan of blackening his skin with a newly developed pigment drug, and traveling through the deep south as a Negro.

The topic of the evening was presented by Mrs. Reuben Lendved. Her subject was the training of Seeing Eye dogs in America, and the article was entitled, "Eyes on a Leash." Cambridge, Wis., is one of the four places in the United States where training schools are conducted.

Kenosha Woman Tells About Train Accident

Post-Crescent News Service
MARINETTE — "There was this big noise and then a horrible feeling that something wasn't right... then something hit me," Mrs. Gerald La Point, 42, Kenosha, was one of 31 persons injured when the Chicago and Northwestern's "Peninsula 400" crashed into the rear of three box cars at Marinette Wednesday night.

From her bed at Marinette General Hospital today Mrs. La Point and other passengers had high praise for the Twin City rescue squad and Marinette police officials.

"It seemed like they were there right away," said Sgt. John Fells.

K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base at Marquette, Mich. Sgt. Fells, who was returning to the base from Chanute Air force Hospital in Illinois never got back.

John Schleih, who was returning home for a 20-day furlough with his parents, said "everyone held up very well and the rescue squad members seemed to do everything just right."

Mrs. La Point said that she was preparing to leave the train at Marinette but had stayed in her seat to talk with a woman she had met on her trip.

"I guess I was the last one up to the front so when the accident happened everyone was thrown back on me. The next thing I remembered was looking up and knowing that something had happened."

"I just stayed where I was and then found that I could move my hands and legs.

But then I put my hand to my head which felt sweaty and found that it was covered with blood.

Nurse Helped a Lot

"I was shocked for a few seconds but then it seemed that everyone was there to help me.

A nurse on the train helped a lot. She was later taken to the hospital in an ambulance with severe head lacerations.

Mrs. La Point said that only one woman became hysterical. "She started to holler that she wanted to get off. All the rest of us looked at her and I guess it straightened everyone else out. It seemed that we all realized what would happen if somebody else started to panic."

"The rescue squad members did a wonderful job. I didn't realize that I could be so calm in a situation like this although I have often thought about it," Mrs. La Point said.

FWD Sales Executives Meet Two Days at Clintonville

FWD Corporation's top sales executives and visitors from the firm's Canadian subsidiary were at the home office in Clintonville Monday and Tuesday for a two-day general sales meeting.

Monday's meeting was devoted to a review and forecast of FWD sales by Wesley H. Peters, FWD general sales manager. Lloyd Perot, FWD domestic sales manager, had charge of Tuesday's reports from FWD field sales personnel and others.

L. A. DePolis, FWD president, opened the meeting reporting on the past year's performance of FWD Corporation and its subsidiaries; FWD Corporation, Canada, Ltd., of Kitchener; and FWD Wagner, Inc., of Portland, Ore. DePolis also highlighted FWD's acquisition of the Fire Apparatus Division of Seagrave Corporation, Columbus, Ohio and the recently proposed merger between FWD Corporation and Mount Clemens Industries, Inc.

Philip A. Larnino, FWD vice president and general manager, second speaker on Monday's program, stressed that increased production facilities at the FWD plant presented a challenge to the FWD sales organization. "It's up to you to keep our enlarged plant capacity filled up," Larnino said.

Literacy Tests May Be More Than Gimmick

25 Per Cent of Inductees Into Army Failed Mental Exams

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It must be hard for a President to avoid inconsistencies in his public pronouncements and policies. This very week Mr. Kennedy pointed out the high rate of illiteracy among the young men who are examined for induction into the military service. Yet, less than four months ago, he was proposing in his "civil rights" message to Congress that, in the matter of voting qualifications, anybody should be presumed "literate" and eligible to vote if he or she has a sixth-grade education. Certainly in these days when compulsory education for at least nine or 10 years is almost universal throughout the country, few young men in the age groups being called for selective service have not completed the sixth grade of school.

The President in his statement on Monday, Sept. 30, said:

"I am deeply concerned about the fact that half of the young men who have been reporting for pre-induction examinations under the selective service system are being found unqualified for military service; and that one out of every four is failing the mental tests, which means, for all practical purposes, that his mental attainments are below those which should be provided by a grade-school education."

75,043 Failed Test

The President said that last year, out of the 306,073 young men — at an average age of 22 to 23 years — who reported for the examinations, 75,043, or 24.5 per cent, failed the mental tests. Now, these cases are by no means hopeless. For, as the President points out, the army during World War II established special training units for the illiterate. Eighty-five per cent of the 303,000 who received such training graduated and went on to serve as regular enlisted personnel.

But the fact remains that they had to have more education. They were not qualified mentally to serve in one of the most important fields of citizenship with the education they had. Yet Mr. Kennedy, in his message to Congress on "civil rights," on June 19 recommended that, in the laws to govern eligibility for voting, the following provision be included:

"In voting suits pertaining to such elections, the completion of the sixth grade by any applicant creates a presumption that he is literate."

The Attorney General a year before had said that the states could fix any number of years of education as a "standard," but that, in the absence of such a provision, Congress has the right to fix a sixth-grade education as fulfilling the requirement of "literacy" for voting in federal elections. It is not clear just where in the constitution the federal government could derive such a right.

Three Democratic Senators — Sam Ervin of North Carolina, Willis Robertson of Virginia and Herman Talmadge of Georgia — have cited, in speeches to the Senate, decision after decision of the Supreme Court of the United States contradicting the administration's proposal. As recently as June 8, 1959, the Supreme Court upheld a North Carolina test which required a prospective voter to "be able to read and should not stop there. It would be write any section of the constitution of North Carolina in English language."

Unanimous Court

Justice Douglas, speaking for a unanimous court, quoted with approval from a previous decision of the high court, which had said: "No time need be spent on the question of the validity of the literacy test, considered alone, since, as we have seen, its establishment was but the exercise by the state of a lawful power vested in it not subject to our supervision, and indeed, its validity is admitted."

northeast, and on that side "Gittmo" is shielded by a mountain range.

Precaution Urged

But Cubans might not fare so well. The National Weather Bureau of Cuba warned residents of Oriente to take "extreme measures" to protect themselves, especially in the low-lying zones of the North Coast.

Exiles from the Castro regime have reported that the Russians have a huge submarine base and other military installations in Oriente.

The Miami weather bureau said that if the hurricane continues on its present projected course, it would affect the major part of the Bahamas Island chain from Mayaguana up through the major islands of Eleuthera and Exuma.

Nassau Not Threatened

The capital city of Nassau, on New Providence Island, lies far enough to the west of this path to appear out of the danger zone.

An 8 a. m. (EST) bulletin from the Miami weather bureau placed the storm center near latitude

29.3 north, longitude 74.6 west, or about 40 miles southeast of Guantanamo Bay and 160 miles west-northwest of Port Au Prince, capital of Haiti. It was moving toward the northwest at 12 miles an hour.

The field of hurricane winds had shrunk after the clash with mountainous land. Blasts of hurricane force pounded outward 35 miles to the northeast and 20 miles to the southwest of the center.

Gales swept an area almost 300 miles in diameter.

cans would pit against President John F. Kennedy next year.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Arizona, was the man most often mentioned.

Debate Suggested

"He's the only one you ever hear anything about," Gov. Frank Morrison of Nebraska commented at a reception host Gov. John W. Reynolds held Thursday night at the executive mansion.

Morrison startled some of the party faithful by saying he thought Goldwater not only would be the GOP nominee but would carry every state west of the Mississippi River with the exception of California.

Morrison said Kennedy could stop the Arizona Republican's advance by meeting him in face-to-face debate but that he doubted the President would devote much time to campaigning in the light population areas.

Two other Democratic figures sharply disagreed with the Nebraska governor.

Gene Mc Gill, Oklahoma's Democratic state chairman, and Frank G. Theis, the Democratic national committeeman from Kansas, both described Goldwater as the Republican candidate who would be the easiest to beat in their states.

Said Theis:

"The people Goldwater appeals to vote Republican anyway and we would pick up a lot of votes from him not only from the middle of the roaders, but from liberal Republicans."

The conference agenda calls for panel discussions on resource development and conservation; education; industrial growth and area redevelopment; urban growth and mental health.

Gets His Medal After 18 Years

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP)—One night 18 years ago, V. A. (Cotton) Ashworth of Russellville earned a Bronze Star for bravery in a German mine field. He got it Thursday.

President Kennedy presented the medal to Ashworth.

"The President told me he hopes the government isn't as slow about everything as it was giving me the medal," Ashworth said.

"I told him I didn't know I had been entitled to it that long or it might have seemed a longer time to me, too."

That night in Germany — he can't recall the date or exact site — Ashworth rescued three seriously wounded infantrymen from a mine field. He doesn't remember their names.

Re-Election Campaign For Reynolds to Get Underway With Dinner

MADISON (AP)—Gov. John W. Reynolds may not be certain whether he'll run for re-election in 1964, but his fund raisers are. The Friends of Reynolds Committee announced today that "the re-election campaign of Gov. Reynolds will begin with a $50-a-plate testimonial dinner in Milwaukee Saturday, Nov. 9."

Featured speaker will be Postmaster General John A. Gronouski, who until last week was Wisconsin's tax commissioner and one of Reynolds' most valued advisors.

State chairman of the Reynolds committee is Meyer Cohen, Green Bay attorney.

Probe Planned Into Marinette Train Crash

Official Finds No Evidence Switch Lock Tampered With

MARINETTE (AP)—A Chicago & North Western Railroad spokesman said Thursday night that a formal inquiry would be held in a train crash that injured 31 persons.

Only four of 31 injured remained in hospitals Thursday night about 24 hours after a passenger train went through an open switch and struck a standing freight.

Traffic was restored on the line and J. C. Black, Lakeshore Division superintendent of the line, said a preliminary investigation showed that a light was out on the switch which turned the passenger train into the siding.

We still haven't determined the cause," said Black, adding that a formal inquiry would be launched.

Lock Not Forced

Black said there was "no evidence that the open switch which caused the wreck had been tampered with. The lock on the stand was open, but it had not been forced or broken."

Eight persons were hospitalized after the crash of the Peninsula bound from Chicago to the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. Four were released Thursday and two were scheduled to leave Marinette General Hospital today.

Remaining for further treatment at St. Joseph-Lloyd Hospital at nearby Menominee, Mich., were Eugene Ravet, 36, of Marinette, who suffered a neck injury, and Pfc. Robert Aggen, 22, of Canby, Mich., who sustained a skull fracture. Aggen was en route home after being stationed in Alaska with the U.S. Army.

Strike Begun at 3 Seaway Ports

MONTREAL (AP)—Approximately 3,000 longshoremen in three St. Lawrence River ports walked off the job at 8 a.m. today, a step expected to have an immediate crippling effect on Canada's efforts to move wheat and flour purchased recently by Russia.

The strike is intended to enforce demands for higher pay.

Seventeen six-man gangs began picketing entrances to Montreal Harbor as early as 6:30 a.m., but a few night gangs continued working right to the deadline.

The strike started at midnight in Quebec City and Trois-Rivieres and spread to Montreal today.

It was the first strike called by the International Longshoremen's Association since 1936.

Who'll Believe Him?

Valachi Probe May Prove of Small Value

BY J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now that the Senate spectacular starring Joseph Valachi is at intermission it might be a good time to consider whether it's worth all the hullabaloo.

The only legitimate purpose of a congressional investigation is to help establish whether Congress ought to pass new laws.

Congress' real job, of course is passing laws.

On the surface it would appear extremely doubtful that a gangster, dope peddler and convicted murderer could be of much help to Congress in the performance of its duty.

Who could believe such a character in the first place?

And Washington being a suspicious town, these other questions arise.

How is it that the Senate cannot get around to voting on tax cuts, civil rights legislation and appropriations yet has time for this show?

Could it be that the senatorial investigators are primarily interested in a golden opportunity to parade in print and on television?

There is no question about the show being a hit. It's a smasheroo on television.

Positive Good

Chairman John L. McClellan of the Senate Investigative subcommittee announced at the outset that the real purpose was to see whether present laws are adequate to deal with crime syndicates.

He now reports the possibility of positive good coming out of the hearings.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy thinks them worthwhile too.

It may be recalled, incidentally, that both Kennedy and his brother, then senator now President, were racketeers along with McClellan in their climbs to fame.

Atty. Gen. Kennedy testified early in the Valachi hearings. He said he'd like a new law granting the Justice Department more authority to use wiretap evidence against gangsters.

He also asked for a law to compel less culpable but balky witnesses to testify against underworld big shots in conspiracy cases by granting them immunity from prosecution.

Valachi already under life sentence, has been anything but balky. He has talked his head off. Indeed, McClellan points out that for the first time here's a witness reporting freely on the inside operations of a powerful crime syndicate.

The chairman says he thinks also of Dickeyville. He was hospitalized with cuts and bruises.

Adamany Will Teach at State U.

MADISON (AP)—David Adamany, recently appointed to State Public Service Commission, has accepted an offer to teach a political science course at the University of Wisconsin.

Appointment of the 26-year old Adamany to the three-man commission last month brought criticism from Republicans and his announcement was seen as an attempt to quell further GOP criticism.

Adamany said Thursday that he will not be paid for teaching and that his classes will meet three times a week during his lunch hour.

He was active in Reynolds' 1962 campaign for governor and served as the chief executive's pardon counsel before being named to the commission.

Although he was sworn as a member of the PSC, his appointment has not been confirmed by the State Senate.

Our Agreement With Spain

The United States and Spain have agreed to extend military cooperation for five more years with the United States providing assistance to the Spanish armed forces in exchange for our right to have bases on Spanish soil. We have three Air Force bomber bases in Spain and one naval base.

This is a matter of importance in keeping back Communists and is similar to our cooperation with other European nations within NATO. It also is a practical realization of the dangers of communism and areas where it may be able to attack.

The text of the joint statement really promises very little. "The United States Government reaffirms its recognition of the importance of Spain to the security, well-being and development of the Atlantic and Mediterranean areas. The two Governments recognize that the security and integrity of both Spain and the United States are necessary for the common security. A threat to either country, and to the joint facilities that each provides for the common defense, would be a matter of common concern to both countries, and each country would take such action as it may consider appropriate within the framework of its constitutional processes."

No one pledges assistance in case of attack. But "the two Governments . . . have reaffirmed their friendship and mutual trust, and their determination to establish a close cooperation in order to strengthen the common defense. . . They have reaffirmed their recognition of the common dangers. . ."

Here of course is where the United States and Spain, and a great many other countries to which we give aid, part company. Exactly what "common dangers" do we mutually recognize?

Obviously the Communist world conspiracy is the primary danger for which we have a common defense. Both the United States and Spain oppose communism because it would take away from both their present forms of government and control. But the United States also opposes communism on a deeper level in that it is a threat to justice, liberty and individual dignity which we think are of paramount importance if man is to live not by bread alone. Spain represents one sort of totalitarian control which differs in its oppression of mankind only in that it is not today an active military threat to the world.

As a practical matter we can keep Spain on our side. We are reminded of Winston Churchill's remark during World War II that he would buddy up with the devil himself to defeat the Nazis. And it is not up to us to overturn the Spanish Government.

But in the long run, communism may have a better chance of once more gaining a foothold in Spain than in many other countries. Its strength in Spain at the time of the Civil War was not entirely because of Russian help. Communism is not caused by poverty and oppression but it often thrives on both even in cellars and dungeons.

This agreement between Spain and the United States is not unusual. Because communism is the great danger of this decade, we must have friends and aides who do not see things entirely our way. The South Koreans, the South Vietnamese, the Governments of Nicaragua, Pakistan and Ghana are a long way from our concept of democracy. The criticism of our aid to South Viet Nam rather than our aid to Spain is really because South Viet Nam is not so rigid a dictatorship as is Spain. It is far easier to sign defense pacts with totalitarian governments than with a country like Italy, for instance, where popular opposition can be marshaled without interference by the state police.

There is no final answer to these problems. In our relations with Latin American countries we attempt to discourage military or other forms of dictatorships on the grounds that they are oppressive and invite Communist uprisings. In a nation like Spain, we shrug off our knowledge of the rigidity of control.

And there is some sound basis for this policy. Prosperity, peace and order may contribute in the long run to less oppressive regimes whether they are of the far right or the far left. This is the evolutionary rather than the revolutionary path to liberty and it could take place in both Spain and the Soviet Union. At least in this age of the nuclear bomb we must hope that it can take place.

Eruption in Algeria

Last month, when Algerians were exhorted to go to the polls and vote for the new constitution which would place almost complete power in the hands of Ben Bella, they were told that it was a vote for the constitution or for civil war. Some of them chose war by staying away from the ballot boxes where they really had no choice. And some are continuing their resistance by exploiting the dissatisfactions of an explosive and poor people.

There has been a considerable amount of confusion about what has been going on in Algeria and Algerians seem about as confused as everyone else. Only last week a United States reporter wrote that "having ended the post-independence chaos in this sprawling strategic Moslem land, (Ben Bella) was the only man capable of keeping Algeria stable and moving rapidly 'on the road to Socialism.'" But the stability disappeared with the riots by the Berbers and by the charges that Moroccan troops were massing to help the rebels. Maybe it simply could not have been done, but Ben Bella certainly has not brought stability to Algeria.

The opposition has a variety of charges. The more idealistic warn that Ben Bella, through almost unlimited power solely in his hands and his political party, is taking the country toward Fascism. Those who fought so bitterly against the French for many years say that the better government positions are going to men who actually were on the French side. The army wants more money. And the main leaders who are able to get this opposition together insist that there has not been enough of a move toward socialism and help for the hungry. Except for philosophers, there are few who hold out much hope of more liberty and less political control in Algeria.

The criticism on the economic side may be even more serious. American surplus food keeps a lot of Algerians alive but Ben Bella's strong nationalism tendencies and his cozying up to such men as Nasser and Castro have scared away outside private investment which Algeria so desperately needs. The Soviet Union has announced plans for a grant but the amount is not great nor is there much security in Russian assistance. Ben Bella has sought political power but in a way to antagonize and alienate those who would give him economic help.

Algerian troops number about 35,000 and upon their loyalty will depend the course of events in the next few weeks. "If there is one people who will never accept a dictatorship, it's the Algerian people," Ben Bella recently said in trying to minimize the extent of his political power.

He may have been more right than he knew.

Gen. Schenck (pronounced Skunk by all polite people) has caught the "arbitrary arrest" fever from his close proximity to Washington.

The other night he had arrested a crowd of Baltimoreans who were in the act of drinking the following toast: "Damn the goose that grew the quill that made the pen that wrote the Proclamation of Emancipation."

The New York World very fairly remarks of the matter that "we owe to a goose the signing of the Emancipation Proclamation we believe to be a historical fact."

Unfit Drivers Are Big Problem

From The Memphis Commercial Appeal

A gentleman in Louisville not long ago ran a red light. Then he ran his automobile into a parked car, bounced off and hit another. To round out his escapade he turned the wrong way on a one-way street. He told police that he fully realized he was not capable of driving safely in modern traffic and turned in his license. In view of the gentleman's decision, the judge fined him only $25.

While it was commendable, it was distinctly a case of better late than never. The gentleman is 83 and his record is said to suggest that he should have given up driving some little time ago. As a people, we still lack a great deal of the firmness and speed with which we should eliminate unfit drivers.

Charge Attempt Made to Get Hiss Back in State Department

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee has pried open a real can of worms in its investigation of the State Department's move to discredit and oust Otto Otepka, 48, chief of the evaluation division in the department's Office of Security.

In digging into the Otepka case, the Senate probes have uncovered a backstage effort within the State Department to clear the way for a number of former security risks, including Alger Hiss, to worm their way onto the government's payroll as either employees or consultants.

According to sworn testimony before the subcommittee, one of the central figures in this maneuvering is Harlan Cleveland, assistant secretary of State for International affairs.

Named to Committee
Cleveland touched off the bitter security row within the department by appointing a number of persons with questionable security backgrounds to an advisory committee to study the staffing of Americans on international organizations.

According to the testimony, Cleveland also made inquiries as to whether it would be possible to bring Hiss, a former State Department official convicted of perjury to conceal espionage, back into the department.

Otepka, one of the department's outstanding security officers, was so shocked over Cleveland's activities that he sent a series of blistering reports to his superiors, including one that was routed through channels to McGeorge Bundy, the President's chief White House adviser on foreign policy.

One of these reports included a detailed "box score" of persons with questionable security background that Cleveland had either brought into the department or was in the process of trying to obtain job clearance for.

The Big Blow-Up

When the State Department's daisy chain tipped off Cleveland that he was being watched, he retaliated swiftly by having John F. Reilly, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Security, place Otepka under surveillance. This was quietly arranged through the office of Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, a personal friend of Reilly.

With quiet but ruthless efficiency, Otepka was then removed from security operations. His phone was bugged and he was placed under close observation after it was learned that Senate investigators had questioned him, under subpoena, about security risks in the department.

Charges of "misconduct," involving the alleged turning over of documents to the Senate subcommittee, were filed against Otepka on Sept. 23 by John Ordway, chief of the Personnel Operations Division. Otepka was given until Thursday, Oct. 3, to answer but his attorney, Robert Robb, secured a 10-day extension.

According to the State Department's own confidential report, most of the evidence upon which the "charges" are based came from Reilly's surreptitious examination of Otepka's classified "trash bag," in which he placed security material and other papers for destruction.

Highlights of Report
The undercover methods that State Department security officers used in their surveillance of Otepka are highlighted in the report, as follows:
"During the period March 13, 1963, to June 18, 1963, John F. Reilly, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Security, caused the following procedure to be instituted:
"Mrs. Joyce M. Schmelzer, secretary to Frederick W. Traband, supervisory personnel security specialist, periodically observed (Otepka) classified trash bag (hereinafter referred to as 'burn bag') which was in the possession of (Otepka) secretary, Mrs. Eunice Powers. Mrs. Schmelzer and Mrs. Powers were located in the same room and across from one another.
"When Mrs. Schmelzer saw that (Otepka) burn bag was full, she would ask Mrs. Powers if she wanted her (Mrs. Schmelzer) to take the bag to a department mail room with Mr. Traband's.
"When Mrs. Powers accepted Mrs. Schmelzer's offer, she would inform Mr. Traband of this fact. Mr. Traband would then call Mr. Rosetti, supervisory security specialist, or Mr. Shea, supervisory general investigator, if Mr. Rosetti was not available, and inform him that burn bag was being delivered to the mail room."
The Red "X"
"While carrying (Otepka) burn bag and Mr. Traband's to the mail room, Mrs. Schmelzer would mark burn bag with a red "X" (with a crayon or pencil mark) and deposit both burn bags in the mail room, Room 3437.
"Mr. Rosetti or Mr. Shea, and on one occasion Mr. Robert McCarthy, supervisory security specialist, would obtain (Otepka) burn bag from the mail room within five to ten minutes after Mrs. Schmelzer left it there and would turn it over to Mr. Reilly to Mr. Belisle (special assistant to the deputy assistant secretary for security), in their office, Room 3811. (Otepka) burn bag was then transferred to Mr. Reilly's brief case.
"Mr. Reilly's brief case was then taken by Mr. Shea to Room 1410, 3612A or 3611 for examination of its contents, (Otepka) burn bag was inspected by Mr. Shea, Mrs. Belisle, or Mr. Ro-setti. All carbon paper or copies were read by turning the carbon side toward the light thus allowing the paper to be read from the back. Torn pieces of papers were grouped together and then pieced together to make readable documents. One-time typewriter ribbons were also read on occasion.

Read Ribbon
"During the course of inspecting the contents of (Otepka) burn bag on May 29, 1963, a typewriter ribbon was retrieved. This ribbon has been read and contents reproduced."

According to the findings in this State Department investigative report, evidence was found that Otepka had furnished "A copy of a classified memorandum concerning the processing of appointments of the advisory committee on international organizations staffing to Mr. J. G. Sourwine, staff director of the Senate Subcommittee for Internal Security. This memorandum concerns the loyalty of employees or prospective employees of the department within the meaning of the Presidential Directive of March 13, 1948."

The report also charged that Otepka was responsible "for the declassification of a document containing classified information addressed to McGeorge Bundy, the White House, and signed by William H. Bruback, Special Assistant Secretary and Executive Secretary of the Department." This document contained information about security risks within the department.

The Coming Showdown
So serious were Otepka's revelations to the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee that Sec. Rusk and a score of other State Department officials were summoned to testify. Sec. Rusk, pleading that he was too busy with negotiations with Russia, has succeeded in delaying his appearance.

While the senators managed to grill Reilly and two of his aides, all other State Department officials have been forbidden to appear before the subcommittee without advance approval from Sec. Rusk.

This gag-order has now set the stage for the bitterest head-on clash between the State Department and a Senate Committee since the days of the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

While the Senate probes headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman, and Sen. Thomas Dodd, D-Conn., don't have the reckless zeal of McCarthy, they do have a courageous witness who can tell the story from the inside.

Otepka, a Civil Service and State Department officer for more than 20 years, has one of the most outstanding records in his field of work in the government. He was responsible for sending foreign service officer Irving C. Scarbeck to jail for passing U. S. secrets to the Soviets, and for investigating William Wieland in connection with the State Department's Cuban policy. In all his investigations, the records show that he has bent over backwards in protecting the rights of individuals under his surveillance. The Senate Subcommittee now plans to give Otepka the same protection. (All Rights Reserved)

Here's One Way That Taxpayers Could Cut Cost of Government

BY GEORGE CORNING
MADISON — The Intelligence Section of the Wisconsin Department of Taxation was formed in 1961 in order to have a group concentrating its efforts on obtaining evidence of the criminal violation of the Wisconsin income and sales tax laws.

It is not pleasant to face the fact that a number of citizens are so unconcerned about their obligations as citizens that it is necessary to prosecute them for tax fraud. It is gratifying to find that these individuals constitute only a small percentage of our citizenry.

Those of us who have the responsibility of enforcing those laws are dedicated to the proposition that we should not be satisfied that we have done well enough until there is no longer a need for our function. A successful income tax prosecution is evidence of our failure because it means that the honest person has paid more than his fair share of the tax burden.

The taxpayers of this state could, and should, take our jobs away from us by the simple expedient of being honest.

THE WORK

The efforts of the Intelligence Section have been devoted to the identification and preparation for prosecution of cases involving persistent and flagrant non-filers as well as the obtaining of evidence of criminally fraudulent returns. Because of its contacts with other state and federal agencies and local authorities, the section also provides needed information to other sections and divisions within the department concerning the present location, present employer, present income, etc. of persons being sought for routine assessment or for collection of delinquent taxes.

The case load of the section comes in part by referral and in part by investigations which it initiates. The vast majority of leads reviewed are disposed of routinely and are either referred for ordinary civil assessment or are closed without formal action. Cases which warrant further action involve intensive investigation and may require a period of several months to conclude.

At the conclusion of the investigation a careful review is undertaken and the matter is ultimately referred to the Commissioner of Taxation for his approval of any recommendation to prosecute. After a determination is made to prosecute, the matter is referred to the appropriate district attorney or the attorney general's office for prosecution.

The special agents of the section and I work closely with the prosecutor in the development and preparation of the case for trial. Since the offense which is ordinarily charged is a felony, contested cases require considerable time at the various stages of litigation.

PERSONNEL

The section is made up of six special agents, a director and a secretary. At the present time there are 76 investigations pending or underway. Nine of these investigations are full scale investigations, the balance are at various stages of preliminary review. Sixty-nine persons have been referred to the Commissioner as flagrant non-filers by the section. All but a few of these cases have been concluded. It is expected that the withholding of tax by employers will substantially reduce the number of non-filing cases requiring prosecution.

Although it is not possible to determine the extent to which prosecution of criminal cases acts as a deterrent to others, the department has noted a healthy increase in the number of persons who voluntarily comply with their tax filing requirements. Thus we have some evidence that our efforts are having the result of more equitably distributing the tax burden.

We hope that through our efforts and with opportunities such as this to inform the public, we will be able in the future to devote our time to helping the honest taxpayers rather than pursuing the dishonest.

Evil Contains Seed Of Own Destruction

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

It is a comforting thought on a grim day that what keeps the world from falling wholly into crime and corruption is the psychological fact that evil is a separatist thing, while goodness is a unifying thing.

We would be utterly under the rule of evil, were it otherwise; for evil is industrious, while virtue is too often apathetic; evil is cunning, while virtue is credulous; evil is attractive and exciting, while virtue makes no similar appeal to the senses.

But the one redeeming factor, the one element that tends to cancel out all the other advantages of evil, is that by its very nature it separates itself, not merely from the good, but from other evil as well. It is not only destructive; it is ultimately self-destructive.

Samuel Johnson put it pitifully two centuries ago: "Combinations of wickedness would overwhelm the world did not those who have long practised perfidy grow faithless to each other."

Thieves fall out; thieves must fall out, for it is the essence of their character, the mainspring of their behavior. They can have no enduring loyalty to one another, no basic trust, no disinterested activity. What is anti-social in them in the beginning turns into anti-one-another in the end.

This is worth remembering in an age when evil seems ascendant, powerful, organized, and ruthless; when society assumes the dimensions of a magnified racket; when expediency becomes the mark of polity; when nations, like sophisticated gangsters, engage promiscuously in threats, bribes, blackmail, and all the lower forms of intimidation.

It is no mere sentimentalism to insist that—barring some cosmic cataclysm—evil cannot survive and flourish; for it contains the seed of its own destruction. Its center does not hold, it flies apart, it cannot cope with the one thing it wants above all—success.

For success, to have any meaning, requires order, coherence, unity, proportion, and equity. All these factors are alien to the spirit of evil. Most of all, success calls for co-operation at the deepest level—and co-operation is impossible for the separatist spirit.

Rival gangs kill one another off; within each gang, struggles for power disintegrate the group. Hitlers and Stalins cannot maintain "non-aggression pacts" for very long. Tyrants are assassinated by their own lieutenants. The same instinct that drives a man into wickedness drives him to dominate and destroy his associates in the enterprise. Evil in its very nature is self-defeating; in dark days, this truth is sometimes all that good men have to cling to.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

A State Department official may be fired for slipping information to a Senate committee. Under the trading-with-the-enemy act, huh?

Joe Valachi tells senators of inside murders of the crime syndicate. Slogan: If you can keep your head while all about you are losing theirs, perhaps you haven't tried shaking it recently.

One career girl says she never diets and loves to apply for new jobs: She's at her best when filling out a form.

Fast money being made by Bobby Baker, Senate Democratic secretary, in the vending machine game inspires a new book: "Baker's Dough — or The Fastest Rise in Town."

Lord Denning clears the British Services in the Christine Keeler case. Britain's smug secret agents now refer to it as the Pristine Keeler case.

Differ on Value of Valachi Testimony

Justice Bureau Official,
Sen. McClellan Not Agreed

BY G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Like a tourist guide, Joseph Valachi has led the nation on a dark tour of the underworld for an insider's peek at its secrets and murders. But can he be believed?

Yes, says Sen. John L. McClellan, who is chairman of the investigating subcommittee hearing Valachi's rasping tale of vengeance. "He's a dirty liar," says John C. Montana, a delegate to the notorious gangland convention at Apalachin, N.Y.

Besides its shock value, has Valachi's testimony turned up anything new? Is it helping the fight against organized crime?

Not New to Police
"I think there are more important things to claim the attention of Congress," says Rep. Jim Wright, D-Tex., who has criticized the subcommittee before.

A Justice Department spokesman doesn't feel that way. Much of the 60-year-old mobster's testimony "could be used in court" if strongly corroborated, he said.

"There is very little new to us," said a New York police official who added "His testimony serves to make some things clear. But this does not mean that it is of such a nature that we can go to court and prosecute a case."

In a switch of plans, McClellan put off until Tuesday the questioning of Valachi about the big money narcotics rackets in which members of the secret criminal society known as La Cosa Nostra were involved.

Testimony Prolonged
Testimony of Valachi, a convicted killer and dope peddler, ran longer than expected Wednesday as he told of murder 30 years ago in which the reigning Cosa

New York Play Based On James Purdy Works

Critics Praise 'Color of Darkness' Sketches at Off-Broadway Theater

A dramatic work "Color of Darkness" adapted from Purdy's writings opened this week with critical acclaim at the off Broadway theater Writers Stage. Although Ellen Violett adapted five of Purdy's short stories and a playlet into its six sketch dramatic form, reviewers all noted that their literary origin comes through strongly just as author Purdy wrote them.

This is Purdy's debut into the Theater and, according to his reviews, he is a success. Drama critic Eric Lloy of the Wall Street Journal calls the piece an off Broadway production that is on target, noting that the Writers Stage is an appropriate theater for Purdy's first theatrical venture "because above all Mr. Purdy is a writer — and a very good one." The Associated Press reviewer describes the play as an impressive performance in which "assorted citizens seek to resolve their cares with accent on the affirmative."

Actress Doris Roberts, who appears in two of the playlets, is cited as outstanding. Lloy says that her "befuddled Mrs. Klein English from the University of 'Don't Call Me by My Right Chicago and additional certification Name' and her melancholy portrayal of Jenny in 'You Reach for Your Hat,' are alone worth the trip to East Fourth Street."

'Espionage' May be Best Of New Series

Opening Show Well Produced With Fine Cast of Actors

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—NBC's new "Espionage" in its premiere program was less a spy story than a tale of an expedient killing. It was well produced and had a fine cast of actors with—praise be—new faces.

The series, produced in England, promises to be a most interesting addition to the network schedule.

The opening show was a grim and painful story set immediately after World War II. It centered on the trial of two young workers in the Norwegian underground.

The event itself was told in a series of flashbacks and the big question was whether the two resistance workers, believing themselves trapped in a hopeless situation by the Nazis, were justified in their decision to kill an old and feeble couple rather than permit them to be captured.

"Chronicle" Dull

CBS showed its first edition of "Chronicle," which will occasionally fill an early Wednesday evening spot. Under the coy title of "The French, They Are So French," the program sought, as it announced, to explain the Gallic national character mostly by dramatic excerpts from works by de Maupassant, Anouilh, Balzac and Cocteau.

The result was dull television.

When a new collection of 10 stories and two playlets was published in 1962 under the title "Children Is Ah," it was called "the paradox of love and loneliness in our age" by the Saturday Review.

Scholarly critic and author Thab Hassan declared Purdy to be one of America's best writers. He saw a surreal glow in Purdy's precise, spare language that brings into focus the paradoxes of contemporary American life through thoughtful and often macabre fiction.

Now the former Appleton man's short stories and playlets have come full circle in the dramatic form being presented on the stage of an off-Broadway theater.

Author James Otis Purdy, assistant professor of Spanish from 1946 to 1956 at Lawrence College, has added a new dimension to his literary career.

Sitting Bull Subject of TV Portrait

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — The Great Adventure has an excellent, authentic two-part dramatization of the final great tragedy of the American Indian "The Death of Sitting Bull" starts with Custer's death at Little Big Horn, then skips ahead 14 years to the dangerous period when the Ghost Dance religion was being turned into a war cry by some Indian chiefs and Sitting Bull was torn between war and peace.

6:30-7:30 (Channel 11) — Part Three of 77 Sunset Strip's five-part continues its taut path to a solution of two killings with Efrim Zumbalst Jr. rehired by the man who brought him into the case, nearly killed by a car driven by the devil learning what the photographs he has discovered represent and planning a possibly fatal trip to Europe.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — Bob Hope Presents turns to the first drama on the schedule, "A Killing at Sundial," by Rod Serling. It's a good, modern-day Western with fine performances from Stuart Whitman, a rich vengeful Indian, and Melvyn Douglas, the prejudiced town boss who was responsible for lynching Whitman's father years earlier (Col. or).

7:30-8:30 (Channel 11) — Murder is still fun on Burke's Law. The victim, a legend of a man's arts complex at the university to who is big-game hunter, racon he called the Owen Arts Center and author, is found draped on the wall in his trophy room buildings, including the present by the Swedish maid (Zsa Zsa-university auditorium).

Jaundice Not Usual in Four-Year-Old Child

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Our little four-year-old girl has jaundice. What will get rid of the dark, muddy appearance of her skin?

We have to tell her something for constipation, but otherwise she is a healthy, active child.—MRS. L. C.

Are you sure you mean jaundice? This problem, while sometimes found in newborn babies, and of course later in life, is rare in a four-year-old. Besides, your description of a "dark, muddy appearance" doesn't characterize jaundice, which is a yellow tint, and in severe cases a golden one. There are treatments available although there isn't any jaundice "medicine" as such. Why? Because jaundice isn't a disease. It is a symptom. And it is a symptom that can come from various things—liver disease (hepatitis as well as others); a defect or a clogging of the bile ducts, disorders (although not very common) which can cause red blood cells to break down. Some kinds of poisoning, either natural, or else it may indicate acute or chronic, result in jaundice. Phosphorus and carbon tetrachloride are two that damage the liver. Some powerful drugs can do the same thing and must be watched for such side effects if they are prescribed. Your comment that the little girl is a "healthy active child" leads me to doubt that she has jaundice, because this means that a person, whether child or adult, is sick and needs professional attention. There is no point in my trying to guess at a diagnosis of "dark, muddy appearance" of her skin; however, see what your doctor thinks of it. This may be and desalted milk preparations for the booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in

And while you are about it, ask him to help correct the constipation. Limit Salt Intake Dear Dr. Molner: I am supposed to cut down on table salt and foods high in sodium. What items should be omitted?—G.B. For practical purposes, limit (or stop using) salt either at the table or in cooking. Prepared items (pickles, sauerkraut, sausage, lunch meats, corned beef, etc.) should be avoided entirely. Have an ordinary frying pan. Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for the booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in even fruits and vegetables, as well as fresh meat, contain at least a little sodium, but if you avoid all ADDED salt, you will be doing all right. Prostate Surgery Dear Dr. Molner: After prostate surgery, is it possible for a man to have sexual intercourse as before?—H.E. Yes, this is conditioned to a great extent by your potential before the operation. NOTE TO F.G.W.: The coated, greaseless frying pans are exactly. If the coating is scratched, it comes off and then all you have is an ordinary frying pan. Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper for the booklet, "Ear Noises—Their Causes and Cures," enclosing with your request 10 cents in Today in History Today is Friday Oct. 4, the 277th day of 1963. There are 88 days left in the year. Today's highlight in history. On this date in 1957, the space age began when the Soviet Union launched its first Sputnik. The satellite orbited the earth at an altitude of 560 miles and at a speed of 18,000 miles an hour. On this date in 1977 the British defeated the Colonial forces in the Battle of Germantown, Pa. In 1824 the federal Republic of Mexico was proclaimed. In 1910 Portugal became a republic when King Manuel was forced to flee as the result of a revolution. In 1943 Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced that Allied forces had broken Japan's grip on the tremendous volume received on British New Guinea during World War II. Ten years ago Yugoslavia of Italy on their dispute over Trieste.

Five years ago... British Overseas Airways Corporation inaugurated transatlantic jet airliner passenger service. One year ago... President Kennedy named 13 men to set up and incorporate a private communications satellite corporation under direct government control and to arrange for public sale of stock.

Wigs to Turn a Pretty Head

The prospect of an entirely new coiffure, done in a different color — and removable — brought moments of hilarity to members of the Welcome Wagon Civic League Tuesday evening. The women held their meeting in the Driftwood Room of Standard Manufacturing Co. Speaker for the evening program was William Kreil, who told about the latest trends in wigs, the kinds of hair used in various kinds, what can be expected of the put-on—take-off hair-dos, and how they should be cared for. Highlight of the evening was the actual trying-on, with blonds assuming the personalities of red-heads in a matter of minutes. For a while, the women indulged the very feminine urge to "be different."

Mrs. Charles Seter, above right, was recognized and admired in her new hair style. Telling her "it does things" are Mrs. J. K. Dean and Mrs. Walter Jaeger. At left, Mrs. Howard Plambeck peeks into her handbag mirror before the combing out is complete. Her expression is one of surprise — "Is it really me?" (Post-Crescent Photos)

Wedding Promises Exchanged

BEAR CREEK—St. Mark Lutheran Church, Symco, was the setting at 3 p.m. Saturday for the wedding of Miss Judy Riske and Kenneth Jorgenson. The Rev. Paul Mueller performed the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Riske, route 1, Bear Creek, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Jorgenson, route 1, Clintonville.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Franklin Vandergate, Clintonville, attended as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Ann Riske, the bride's cousin, and Miss Patricia Henschel, Clintonville. Performing as junior bridal aide was Miss Shelly Vandergate, the bride's niece.

Serving as his brother's best man was James Jorgenson, Clintonville. Lloyd Riske, a brother of the bride, and Douglas Petrie, Oshkosh, the bridegroom's cousin, were groomsmen. Ushering duties were fulfilled by Franklin Vandergate and John Smith, Clintonville, a cousin of the bridegroom. Junior male attendant was

Catholic Daughters Tell Plans for Year

Officers for the Catholic Daughters Study Club have assumed duties for the coming year, with Mrs. George J. Young re-elected chairman and Mrs. Steve Gyarmati, secretary and treasurer. Miss Alice Moehring and Mrs. Helen McGregor were appointed co-chairmen of the program committee. Members meet the fourth Monday of each month.

Mrs. Stanley Chmiel will be hostess at the October meeting, when Miss Cecille Haag will read the psalm. The book to be studied is "We — Neurotics" by Bernard Basset, given by Mrs. Frank J. Taylor.

"A Light To The Gentiles" by Adrian L. Van Kaam will be read by Mrs. Helen McGregor in November. Mrs. Hubert Wetak will read the psalm while Mrs. Theodore Hartjes will be hostess. There will be no meeting in December.

January Review

Mrs. Theodore Hartjes has chosen the book "Brother Angel" by Terrie Rios for the January meeting. Mrs. Frank P. Cook will have the psalm and Mrs. Cornelius Crowe will be hostess.

"Focus On Latin America" by the National Council of Catholic Women, will be discussed by Mrs. Cornelius Crowe and Miss Marie Haag at the February meeting. Mrs. Frank J. Taylor is hostess for the month and Mrs. Steve Gyarmati has the psalm.

Moderator for the Second Encyclical, "Pacem Et Terris" by the late Pope John XXIII, will be Mrs. Bessie Schulenberg. The March meeting will have Mrs. Hubert Wetak as hostess and Mrs. Stanley Chmiel will give the psalm.

A panel of five will continue the study of "Pacem Et Terris" in April. Those who will participate are Mrs. John Morgan, Miss Cecille Haag, Mrs. George J. Young, Mrs. Stanley Chmiel and Mrs. Steve Gyarmati. Miss Alice Moehring will have the psalm and Misses Marie and Cecille Haag will be co-hostesses.

Program on Africa

"African Women Speak", edited by the U.N. Affairs; National Catholic Welfare Council, will be given in May by Mrs. Hubert Wetak. Mrs. John Morgan will read the psalm and Mrs. George J. Young is scheduled as hostess. There are no meetings during the summer. The book for next September, "A Man For All Sea-

Sheinwold Play Two Ways at Once

A good lawyer always has two strings to his bow. "My client was a thousand miles away when the murder was committed," he will argue. "And anyway, it was self-defense." Burt Marks, who played the California Supreme Court that bridge is a game of skill, not only argues that way — he plays a hand two ways at once.

West opened the five of hearts and Marks won in his hand. He was sure of six trumps, two aces, and the king of diamonds. He needed only one other trick to score game and rubber.

One way to play the hand was to ruff for a club ruff in dummy. But persistent trump leads by West would clear the trumps out of dummy's diamonds by ruffing. But there might not be enough entries to dummy for that plan.

Marks tried both plans at once. He cashed the king of diamonds and led a low club.

If West failed to return a heart, declarer would have time to ruff a club in dummy. For example, if West returned a spade, declarer would put up dummy's ace and return a club. Then nothing could stop a club ruff.

If West returned a heart, dummy's nine would be a safe entry to dummy. (If West led a heart and East could play the ten of hearts, South would win and then dummy's last trump could not be knocked out to prevent a club ruff.) Then declarer could cash the ace of diamonds, ruff a diamond, get back with the ace of hearts to ruff another diamond and finally get back with the ace of spades to cash the last diamond.

You don't have to be a lawyer to play a hand with two plans in mind. This type is especially common: try for the long suit while you're aiming at a ruffing trick. If you don't get one, the other may come through.

Daily Question
Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes. You hold: S Q 9 8 4 H 4 D Q 10 8 5 C K 10 8 7. What do you say?

Answer: Bid one spade. Show a major suit (even a weak 4-card) rather than raise a minor suit.

With the Season well underway, Football Capers was the aptly chosen theme of the North Shore Golf Club Saturday evening party. Admonishing members to "Be a Packer Backer" and to cheer for Wisconsin and Lawrence, committee members scheduled dinner at 8:30 p.m. and dancing from 9 to 1 a.m. At right, at dinner, are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stafford and Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Johnson, all of Neenah. Below, party chairman Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Dutcher, Appleton, arrive at the club. (Post-Crescent Photos)

SEAMS TO ME By Patricia Scott

If you want a versatile hat, here it is. Of fake fur fabric, it can be worn to lunch, dinner, school, or even while skiing down the slopes. The nicest part is you can make it in less than an hour. To be sure it fits properly around the head and over the ears, measure your head and leave enough room for seam allowance, hair and ears. If you think you need more room, add a little to the 26-inch measurement in the diagram.

You'll Need: 1/2 yard of medium-weight pelt; 1/2 yard of fur fabric; buttonhole twist; 3/4 yard of grosgrain ribbon.

To Make:
1. Cut a piece of pelt and fur fabric 26" x 15". As in figure 1, mark measurements on pelt; measure up 4 1/2 inches and draw a line (marked "stitching line" in diagram). Measure up 1 1/2 inches from this line and draw another line marked "fold line" in diagram. CB in diagram indicates Center Back.

2. Baste pelt to wrong side of fur fabric (markings up) along all four edges. With right sides together, join center back edges with a 1/2 inch seam. This forms a tube.

3. Cut grosgrain ribbon 26 inches long. Stitch to lower edge of hat overlapping ends at center back (Fig. 2C).

4. Turn hat fabric side out. Along fold line, turn lower edge of hat bringing the pelt side out. Along the stitching line, carefully hand-tack securely to form a tuck (Fig. 2A). You can machine-stitch if you wish, but it will be very thick and difficult to get under the pressure foot.

5. Turn the hat pelt side out and turn the tuck down toward the lower edge. To make hem, turn up lower edge and hem grosgrain ribbon to the tuck. (If you plan to line the hat omit this step).

6. Using buttonhole twist and a large needle, make a row of hand-gathered stitches around the top of the hat 1 1/4 inches from the top edge. Pull thread and gather as tightly as possible. Wind the thread around and around several times and fasten securely (Fig. 2B).

Lining: (You'll need 3/4 yard of lining fabric). It isn't necessary to line the hat, you can if you wish. Cut lining 26" x 10". Slip the lining inside the hat with wrong sides together. Bring hem up over lining and now proceed to follow instructions in step 5 above.

Miss Scott is always glad to hear from her readers, and whenever possible will use their questions in her column, but because of the great volume of mail received daily, she cannot answer individual letters.

Today's Etiquette

ANNUAL BIRTHDAY PARTIES
Dear Louise: We are mothers of small children. Some of us have as many as four. All of us want to have a birthday party for a child to have a birthday party every year.

NAPKIN PLACING
Dear Louise: I am sure that in school I was taught to fold a dinner napkin with the open edges to the left. However, it seems that I now notice that the open edges are toward the plate. Which is correct?

Louise Davis Answers:
The second method is correct where the open corner of the napkin is at the tip of the fork handle.

No. The children can't be blamed for wanting parties. To them, it's fun to get presents. They are too young to realize what they involve and their little noses are out of joint if they don't have them when Molly Brown, Jimmy Jones and the others do. The mothers can be blamed for giving their annual "yes." Refusals can teach children many things including discipline.

Your Problems

Marriage Test May Backfire On Prospective Bridegroom

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Three months ago I started to date a 33-year-old attorney. I am 25. He has never been married and lives with his widowed mother. He told me last night that I am the type of a girl he would like to marry — and added, "provided you can pass the test." I asked him what test, and he asked: "Are you neat about the way you squeeze toothpaste out of the tube? Do you toll it up properly? Do you pin your hair up at night and cream your face?" (He can't tolerate this.) "How often do you change bed linen?" (He insists on fresh linen every night.)

I was shocked at these questions and treated them as a joke. But he was dead serious. Now I ask you, Ann Landers, in the absence of other peculiarities does this man sound like a good prospect for marriage? What would you do? — Jasmine

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'd let his mother have him for another 33 years.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Is this girl doing the right thing or not? On her third or fourth date she became intimate with this boy and now she is pregnant. She is a 20-year-old nurse who should have known better.

The young man says he is sorry he got involved and he wants nothing more to do with her. The girl is planning to file a paternity suit and insists on keeping the baby against all the advice from every side.

I say she should go to a home for unwed mothers, have the baby and put it up for adoption. If she does this nobody will be hurt. She will not shame her family or his, and the young man will not be stuck for 21 years of support money. Also, the baby will get a decent break instead of being known as an illegitimate child.

A lot is riding on your answer so think it through carefully. — Interested Party

DEAR PARTY: The girl did not ask me for advice so I will not attempt to give her any. Obviously she has made her decision and it's one which should be made by the girl herself.

It's a little late for this sterling parties even among adults these days and I think it's time for parents to put their feet down when their children are young.

If some of you mothers are discussing this problem among yourselves, it would be a good idea for you all to take a stand, knowing that it is ridiculous and mer- cenary for a child to have a birthday party every year.

DEAR LOUISE: I am sure that in school I was taught to fold a dinner napkin with the open edges to the left. However, it seems that I now notice that the open edges are toward the plate. Which is correct?

Louise Davis Answers:

There are too many grime

ling young fellow to decide he "wants nothing more to do with her." There are laws for hit-and-run Romeo—as he is about to find out.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a woman in my early 50's who married for the second time about six months ago. I am having real trouble with this man and I need your help.

Horace courted me for almost two years and was so charming and pleasant he had me completely fooled. I was going with two other very fine men at the same time and could have married either of them.

One week after Horace and I were man and wife he told me I had to show him a receipt for every item I bought, no matter how small. He was annoyed because I had spent $3.70 in the five and dime on shelf paper, cup hooks, drawer lining and odds and ends a person needs to set up a new place.

I find this humiliating since I have never had to account for money before. I have a small income but we decided before marriage to pool everything and that he would handle the money. Now I have to beg him for a dollar and I hate it. Please tell me what to do. — Empty Purse

DEAR EMPTY: Every woman should have some money to spend as she pleases—no questions asked—if her husband is employed. You are a fool to turn over your income to your husband and then beg him for a dollar.

The two of you should go a marriage counselor or to a clergyman and talk this problem out. You need the help of a third party.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them in her care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Handy Memo

Keeping your hands lovely is never a slapdash affair. But as colder weather approaches, attention must be stepped up or chap will step in.

Without some special care, hands can become rough and red in a few days of inclement weather—particularly if they are exposed to harsh detergents at the same time. The condition, of course, is unsightly. Worse, it can envelop into open, stinging splits.

It may surprise you to learn that one of the best chap preventatives is extra frequent and careful washing. Try to wash your hands before the need becomes apparent, and always after contact with strong household cleaners.

In that way you keep the skin free of those invisible irritants that sensitize the skin to chap.

Be sure, however, to wash with mild soap and to remember that the test of mildness is not always a frothy lather. The gentlest soap feels creamy and is slow to froth.

Make certain, too, to dry thoroughly. Pay particular visits to the knuckles and between-finger areas. The damp crevasse is a chap-trap.

Hand lotion, as you doubtless guess, is also essential to the program. You cannot use too much of it. The most effective kinds combine emollients and healing ingredients. Worth investigation are new lotions and creams with a low pH factor. Confined heretofore to facial treatments, the factor helps maintain the skin's delicate acid balance. And that action wards off dryness.

To those measurers add warm street gloves and protective work gloves. Then no harm can come to your hand complexion. In fact it will grow lovelier.
